1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Animal Destruction Act.

2 Killing of straying swine

(1) Notwithstanding any other enactment, swine found straying in any street, public road or place, may be killed by any police officer or by any person authorised in writing by the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Health.

(2) The carcasses of the swine so destroyed shall be conveyed to the nearest police station where they may be claimed by the owner within 6 hours.

(3) Where the carcasses are not so claimed, they may be disposed of as the sanitary authority may direct.

3 Killing of straying swine, goats or poultry

Notwithstanding any other enactment, swine, goats or poultry found straying on any private premises or cultivated land may, at the request of the owner or occupier of such premises or land, be killed by any police officer or by any person authorised in writing by the Commissioner of Police or his deputy, by the Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Health, by the Chief Agricultural Officer or by the Conservator of Forests under such conditions and during such period as may be laid down in such authority.

4 Owner of animal killed to be notified

(1) (a) Every police officer or other person killing any animal under section 3 shall within 6 hours notify the owner of the animal killed, if he is known to such police officer or other person, and the owner may remove the carcase of his animal.

(b) Where the carcase is not removed by the owner within 6 hours from the time of the notice the owner of the land may bury or otherwise destroy it.

(2) Every police officer or other person who fails to comply with this section shall commit an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding 100 rupees.

5 Declaration of killing to the Police

(1) Every person killing any animal under section 3 shall make a declaration of such killing to the officer in charge of the nearest police station within 12 hours.

(2) Every person who fails to comply with this section shall commit an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding 100 rupees.
