Regulations

1 Title

These regulations are the Continental Shelf (Umuroa Installation Safety Zone) Regulations 2008.

2 Commencement

These regulations come into force on the 28th day after the date of their notification in the Gazette.

3 Interpretation

In these regulations,—

installation means the floating production, storage, and offloading installation Umuroa that, immediately before the commencement of these regulations, was moored at the installation point installation point means the point whose co-ordinates are 39°25'39.80"S 173°14'12.40"E locus, in relation to the point of the installation most distant from the installation point, means the arc of points through which that part of the installation can pivot rotation zone means the area bounded by the locus (while the installation is moored at the installation point) of the part of the installation most distant from the installation point safety zone means the safety zone established by regulation 4 ship has the meaning given to it by the Maritime Transport Act 1994.

4 Safety zone established

This regulation establishes a safety zone comprising—

- (a) the rotation zone; and
- (b) the annular (ring-shaped) area next to the rotation zone—

- (i) bounded on its inner edge by the outer edge of the rotation zone; and
- (ii) bounded on its outer edge by a line 500 m from the outer edge of the rotation zone.

5 Entry of certain ships prohibited

While the installation is moored at the installation point, a ship must not enter the safety zone unless it is engaged in constructing, repairing, or servicing—

- (a) the installation; or
- (b) a submarine pipeline connected or to be connected to the installation; or
- (c) facilities associated with the installation or any such pipeline.

6 Offence

- (1) The person in charge of a ship when it enters the safety zone in contravention of regulation 5 commits an offence, unless the ship's entry of the zone—
 - (a) was for the purpose of securing the ship's safety in an emergency (whether or not caused by stress of weather); or
 - (b) was for the purpose of saving, or preventing danger to, human life or a ship in distress; or
 - (c) was compelled by an event or circumstance beyond the control of the person charged.
- (2) A person who commits an offence against subclause (1) is liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $1,000.

Regulation 6(2): amended, on 1 July 2013, by section 413 of the Criminal Procedure Act 2011 (2011 No 81).

Diane Morcom,
Clerk of the Executive Council.

Notes

1 General

This is a reprint of the Continental Shelf (Umuroa Installation Safety Zone) Regulations 2008. The reprint incorporates all the amendments to the regulations as at 1 July 2013, as specified in the list of amendments at the end of these notes.

Relevant provisions of any amending enactments that contain transitional, savings, or application provisions that cannot be compiled in the reprint are also included, after the principal enactment, in chronological order. For more information, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/reprints/>.

2 Status of reprints

Under section 16D of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, reprints are presumed to correctly state, as at the date of the reprint, the law enacted by the principal enactment and by the amendments to that enactment. This presumption applies even though editorial changes authorised by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 have been made in the reprint.

This presumption may be rebutted by producing the official volumes of statutes or statutory regulations in which the principal enactment and its amendments are contained.

3 How reprints are prepared

A number of editorial conventions are followed in the preparation of reprints. For example, the enacting words are not included in Acts, and provisions that are repealed or revoked are omitted. For a detailed list of the editorial conventions, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/editorial-conventions/> or Part 8 of the Tables of New Zealand Acts and Ordinances and Statutory Regulations and Deemed Regulations in Force.

4 Changes made under section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989

Section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 authorises the making of editorial changes in a reprint as set out in sections 17D and 17E of that Act so that, to the extent permitted, the format and style of the reprinted enactment is consistent with current legislative drafting practice. Changes that would alter the effect of the legislation are not permitted. A new format of legislation was introduced on 1 January 2000. Changes to legislative drafting style have also been made since 1997, and are ongoing. To the extent permitted by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, all legislation reprinted after 1 January 2000 is in the new format for legislation and reflects current drafting practice at the time of the reprint.

In outline, the editorial changes made in reprints under the authority of section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 are set out below, and they have been applied, where relevant, in the preparation of this reprint:

- omission of unnecessary referential words (such as “of this section” and “of this Act”)
- typeface and type size (Times Roman, generally in 11.5 point)
- layout of provisions, including:
 - indentation
 - position of section headings (eg, the number and heading now appear above the section)
- format of definitions (eg, the defined term now appears in bold type, without quotation marks)
- format of dates (eg, a date formerly expressed as “the 1st day of January 1999” is now expressed as “1 January 1999”)

- position of the date of assent (it now appears on the front page of each Act)
- punctuation (eg, colons are not used after definitions)
- Parts numbered with roman numerals are replaced with arabic numerals, and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- case and appearance of letters and words, including:
 - format of headings (eg, headings where each word formerly appeared with an initial capital letter followed by small capital letters are amended so that the heading appears in bold, with only the first word (and any proper nouns) appearing with an initial capital letter)
 - small capital letters in section and subsection references are now capital letters
- schedules are renumbered (eg, Schedule 1 replaces First Schedule), and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- running heads (the information that appears at the top of each page)
- format of two-column schedules of consequential amendments, and schedules of repeals (eg, they are rearranged into alphabetical order, rather than chronological).
