

Timor Sea Treaty Dili, 20 May 2002(1)

The Government of Australia and the Government of East Timor,
Conscious of the importance of promoting East Timor's economic development,
Aware of the need to maintain security of investment for existing and planned petroleum activities in an area of seabed between Australia and East Timor,

Recognizing the benefits that will flow to both Australia and East Timor by providing a continuing basis for petroleum activities in an area of seabed between Australia and East Timor to proceed as planned,

Emphasizing the importance of developing petroleum resources in a way that minimizes damage to the natural environment, that is economically sustainable, promotes further investment and contributes to the long-term development of Australia and East Timor, Convinced that the development of the resources in accordance with this Treaty will provide a firm foundation for continuing and strengthening the friendly relations between Australia and East Timor,

Taking into account the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea done at Montego Bay on 10 December 1982, which provides in article 83 that the delimitation of the continental shelf between States with opposite or adjacent coasts shall be effected by agreement on the basis of international law in order to achieve an equitable solution,

Taking further into account, in the absence of delimitation, the further obligation for States to make every effort, in a spirit of understanding and cooperation, to enter into provisional arrangements of a practical nature which do not prejudice a final determination of the seabed delimitation,

Noting the desirability of Australia and East Timor entering into a treaty providing for the continued development of the petroleum resources in an area of seabed between Australia and East Timor,

Have agreed as follows:
