Leases

FZ 2 Effect of specified lease on lessor and lessee

Lease treated as sale

- (1) The leasing of a personal property lease asset under a specified lease is treated as a sale of the asset, made at the start of the term of the lease, by the lessor to the lessee. The lessee is treated as having incurred, through the sale, capital expenditure of an amount equal to the cost price of the asset.

Loan applied to finance acquisition of asset

- (2) A lessor under a specified lease is treated as having advanced to the lessee a loan of an amount equal to the cost price of the personal property lease asset. The lessee is treated as having applied the loan in the financing of the acquisition of the asset.

No deduction

- (3) A lessor under a specified lease is denied a deduction under section DZ 14(2) (Deductions under specified leases) for an amount of depreciation loss for the personal property lease asset.

Asset sold to lessor

- (4) At the end of the term of a specified lease, if the personal property lease asset is not acquired by the lessee under the terms of the lease or in the exercise of an option under the lease, the asset is treated as sold at the end of the term of the lease to the lessor for—
- (a) an amount equal to the guaranteed residual value, if any, set out for the asset in the lease; or
 - (b) if no guaranteed residual value is set out in the lease, no consideration.

Treatment when lease terminated

- (5) If a specified lease is terminated before the term of the lease ends, whether by cancellation, surrender, or otherwise,—

- (a) the personal property lease asset relating to the lease is treated as sold on the date of the termination to the lessor by the lessee at a price equal to the amount by which the amount of the outstanding balance, at the time of termination, of a loan advance by the lessor to the lessee is more than the amount or the sum of the amounts payable by the lessee to the lessor in consideration for the release by the lessor of the lessee from the obligations of the lessee under the lease:
- (b) despite paragraph (a), if, in relation to the amount of the outstanding balance and the amount or the sum of the amounts payable by the lessee to the lessor, no excess arises, the asset is treated as having been sold for no consideration:
- (c) if the value of the consideration payable by the lessee to the lessor in relation to the termination is more than the amount of the outstanding balance, at the time of termination, of a loan advanced by the lessor to the lessee, an amount equal to the amount of the excess is treated as income derived by the lessor in the income year in which the lease is terminated.

Subsequent sale, assignment, or lease

- (6) If, on or after the end of the term of a specified lease, the personal property lease asset relating to the lease is sold, assigned, or leased under a specified lease by the lessor to another person, and the value of the consideration on the sale, assignment, or lease—
 - (a) is more than the amount determined for the first specified lease under subsection (4), the amount determined is increased by a further amount that is equal to the part, if any, of the excess paid by the lessor to the lessee:
 - (b) is less than the amount determined for the first specified lease under subsection (4)(a), and the lessee is required to make a further payment to the lessor equal to the difference between the guaranteed residual value for the lease value, and the value of the consideration, the amount determined is reduced by the amount of the further payment.

Consideration more than amount determined under subsection (4)

- (7) Despite subsection (6), if the value of the consideration on the sale, assignment, or lease is more than the amount determined under subsection (4), the part, if any, of the excess that is not paid to the lessee is treated as income under section CZ 20 (Disposal of personal property lease asset under specified lease).

Associated persons

- (8) If the lessee under a specified lease, or another person who is associated with the lessee, at any time acquires the personal property lease asset, and disposes of the asset, and the value of the consideration for the disposal is more than the value of the consideration for which the lessee or other person acquired it, an amount equal to the excess is income under section CZ 20.

Meaning of outstanding balance

- (9) In this section, and in section FZ 3, outstanding balance means the amount calculated using the formula—loans advanced + interest payable – instalments.

Definition of items in formula

- (10) In the formula,—

- (ii) for the initial period and each instalment period, under such other method commonly applied in commercial usage as, having regard to the term of the lease and to the frequency of the personal property lease payments, results in the allocation to that initial period and to each instalment period of an amount that is fair and reasonable and results in the sum of all amounts so allocated being equal to the amount first mentioned in paragraph (b):
- (b) in relation to the term of the lease, an amount that is equal to the sum of the personal property lease payments under the specified lease and the amount of the guaranteed residual value, if any, under the specified lease, reduced by the cost price of the personal property lease asset.

Calculation for income year

- (3) The interest derived by a lessor is, for an income year, treated as an amount equal to the sum of the amounts calculated under subsection (2)(a) as calculated for the initial period, if any, and each instalment period that ends in the income year.

 - (b) the associated entity's net income for the corresponding tax year:
 - (c) if and to the extent to which the associated entity is a company or a trust that has a loss balance to be carried forward under section IA 4 (Using loss balances carried forward to tax year) arising from a business or a trading activity of supplying personal services, the associated entity's net income for the corresponding tax year after subtracting the loss balance carried forward from an earlier corresponding tax year.

Associated entity's net income calculated before attribution

- (1B) For the purposes of calculating the associated entity's net income for the corresponding tax year in the application of subsection (1), section DC 8 (Attribution of personal services) is ignored.

Calculation for trustee or partnership

- (2) For the purposes of calculating the associated entity's net income for the corresponding tax year in the application of subsection (1),—
 - (a) if the associated entity is a trustee of a trust, the trustees are treated as not having made a distribution of beneficiary income out of the year's income:
 - (b) if the associated entity is a partnership, the associated entity is treated as a taxpayer and section HG 2 (Partnerships are transparent) does not apply:
 - (c) if the associated entity is a look-through company, the associated entity is treated as a taxpayer and section HB 1 (Look-through companies are transparent) does not apply.

Reduction of beneficiary income when rule results in trust having tax loss

- (6) If the associated entity is a trustee and the amount attributable would cause the associated entity to have a tax loss for the corresponding tax year, for the purposes of this Act,—
- (a) beneficiary income from the trust for the income year must be reduced to the extent to which the associated entity's taxable income for the corresponding tax year is zero; and
 - (b) the reduction in beneficiary income must be divided among the beneficiaries other than the working person—
 - (i) according to proportions determined by the trust's trustees;
 - (ii) if the trustees do not make the determination, according to the proportion that each beneficiary's beneficiary income bears to the total beneficiary income from the trust for the income year.

Defined in this Act: amount, arrangement, income tax liability, tax year, taxpayer, transfer pricing arrangement

Compare: 2004 No 35 s GD 13(3)

GC 8 Insufficient amount receivable by person

 - (b) [Repealed]
 - (c) the determination of the obligation of another person to withhold under Part R (General collection rules) from the amount.

- (b) the increase under subsection (1) in the amount receivable by the taxpayer—
 - (i) produces an increase in the amount that is a deduction of the other party, or would be a deduction of the other party in the absence of sections FH 5, FH 8, and FH 9 (which deny deductions arising from some mismatch situations); or
 - (ii) if the transfer pricing arrangement is an interest-free loan, would produce an increase in the income of the borrower under subpart FE (Interest apportionment on thin capitalisation) or an increase in the amount that would be a deduction of the borrower in the absence of subpart FH (Hybrid and branch mismatches of deductions and income from multi-jurisdictional arrangements); and
- (c) the amount receivable is interest, royalties, or an insurance premium to which section YD 8 (Apportionment of premiums derived by non-resident general insurers) applies.

Non-resident's exemption: fixed-rate share dividend

GC 13 Calculation of arm's length amounts

Determining arm's length amounts

- (1) An arm's length amount of consideration for a supply and acquisition under a transfer pricing arrangement must be determined by—
- (a) identifying, as required by subsections (1B) and (1C), a transaction reproducing the supply and acquisition (the identified transaction) or the absence of such a transaction; and
 - (b) identifying the conditions (the arm's length conditions) that independent parties after real and independent bargaining might be expected to agree upon for the identified transaction; and
 - (c) applying whichever 1 or a combination of the methods listed in subsection (2) produces the most reliable measure of the arm's length amount of consideration (the arm's length amount) that independent parties after real and independent bargaining would have agreed upon as the price for the identified transaction as part of the arm's length conditions.

Determination of identified transaction

- (1B) A transaction reproducing a supply and acquisition under a transfer pricing arrangement is determined by—
- (a) accurately delineating the transfer pricing arrangement using the approach given in the OECD transfer pricing guidelines, chapter I, section D.1; and
 - (b) identifying a transaction of supply and acquisition under the transfer pricing arrangement as delineated under paragraph (a).

No transaction or differing transaction

- (1C) If the requirements of the OECD transfer pricing guidelines, paragraph 1.122, are met, the approach described in the OECD transfer pricing guidelines, chapter I, section D.2 must be used to treat a transfer pricing arrangement involving a supply and acquisition as instead involving—
- (a) no supply and acquisition; or
 - (b) an identified transaction that differs from the supply and acquisition under the accurately delineated transfer pricing arrangement.

Available methods for calculating arm's length amount

- (2) The arm's length amount of consideration for a supply and acquisition under a transfer pricing arrangement is zero, if there is no supply and acquisition under subsection (1C)(a), or is the amount calculated for the identified transaction under arm's length conditions by performing a comparability analysis as required by the OECD transfer pricing guidelines, chapter III, using any 1 or a combination of—
- (a) the comparable uncontrolled price method:
 - (b) the resale price method:

- (c) the cost plus method:
- (d) the transactional profit split method:
- (e) the transactional net margin method.

Criteria for choice and application of method

- (3) The choice and application of a method or methods must be made having regard to each of the following factors:
- (a) the degree of comparability between the transactions used for comparison and the transactions of the taxpayer under the transfer pricing arrangement:
 - (b) the completeness and accuracy of the data relied on:
 - (c) the reliability of all assumptions:
 - (d) the sensitivity of a result to possible deficiencies in the data and assumptions.

Initial determination by the taxpayer

Commissioner's determination

[Repealed]

- (5) [Repealed]

Amendment of assessment

- (6) Despite the time bar, the Commissioner may amend an assessment for a tax year (the assessed year) in order to give effect to this section and to sections GC 6 to GC 12 and GC 14 to GC 19 at any time in the period of 7 tax years after the tax year (the return year) in which a return of income is made for the assessed year if, at any time in the period of 4 tax years after the return year, the Commissioner notifies the taxpayer that a tax audit or investigation has commenced and this subsection applies.

Borrowers with group credit rating

- (4) A borrower has the group credit rating given by subsection (10) if the borrower is not controlled by a co-ordinated group referred to in subsection (3) or, on the most recent calculation date given for the loan by subsection (6) (the latest calculation date), is controlled by a co-ordinated group that includes a person who has an ownership interest in the borrower, determined under sections FE 38 to FE 41, of 50% or more, and—
 - (a) the borrower has debt under cross-border related borrowings including the loan, of $10 million or more; and
 - (b) the borrower's New Zealand group under subpart FE has a debt percentage under section FE 12(3) that is 40% or more, or has a debt percentage equal to zero, and the borrower does not show that the debt percentage is less than 110% of the debt percentage of the borrower's worldwide group under subpart FE, or, for each lender on the latest calculation date,—
 - (i) there is no ultimate owner having an ownership interest in the lender, determined under sections FE 38 to FE 41, of 50% or more that is resident in the same country or territory as the lender; and

GC 18 Loan features disregarded by rules for transfer pricing arrangements

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when sections GC 7 to GC 14 are applied to a borrower and a transfer pricing arrangement including a financial arrangement (the loan) that is a cross-border related borrowing, as referred to in section GC 15(1).

General rule

- (2) A feature of the loan is disregarded, or adjusted as required by this section, for the purposes of applying sections GC 7 to GC 14 if—
 - (a) the borrower has debt under cross-border related borrowings, including the loan, of $10 million or more on the most recent calculation date given for the loan by section GC 16(4); and
 - (b) the feature may increase the rate of interest payable by the borrower under the loan and—
 - (i) is referred to in subsection (3); and
 - (ii) is not included in an exception under subsections (9) and (10).

Loan features disregarded or adjusted if no exception

- (3) A feature of a financial arrangement that is a cross-border related borrowing may be disregarded or adjusted under this section if the feature—
 - (a) allows the reduction of a liability for interest or principal by a provision of value other than payment of an amount of money;
 - (b) allows a liability to pay interest to be deferred for a period of more than 12 months;
 - (c) provides for a change in the rate of interest payable that is contingent on an event within the control of the borrower or the lender;
 - (d) excludes the exercise of a lender's usual rights to enforce the payment of interest or repayment of principal;
 - (e) provides that a liability to pay interest or repay principal is contingent on an event within the control of the borrower or the lender;
 - (f) provides that the term of the loan from when the financial arrangement is entered is more than 5 years;

- (g) provides that the borrower's obligations under the loan are subordinate to other financial arrangements of the borrower.

Term of loan

- (4) A term of more than 5 years for a cross-border related borrowing (the borrowing) may be adjusted under subsection (8) if—
 - (a) the borrower is referred to as an insuring or lending person in section GC 15(2)(a), (b), or (c), or is associated with such a person, and the exception in subsection (10) does not apply:
 - (b) the borrower is not referred to as an insuring or lending person in section GC 15(2)(a), (b), or (c), and is not associated with such a person and, for the borrowing, either or both—
 - (i) the term of the borrowing is more than the period that is the weighted average of the terms of the financial arrangements included in the total group debt of the borrower's worldwide group under subpart FE (Interest apportionment on thin capitalisation):
 - (ii) the amount of the borrowing is more than the amount that is 4 times the total value of the financial arrangements included in the total group debt of the borrower's worldwide group under subpart FE.

Quantities affecting adjustment to term

- (5) Whether an adjustment is required under subsection (8), and the amount of a required adjustment, is found for the date (the calculation date) on which the loan is entered or renewed or extended using—
 - (a) the figure (the threshold term) calculated using the formula in subsection (6) for financial arrangements having a term of more than 5 years—
 - (i) included in the total group debt of the borrower's worldwide group under subpart FE; or
 - (ii) between members of the borrower's New Zealand group under subpart FE and persons other than associated persons excluding cross-border related borrowing:
 - (b) the value of the financial arrangements used in calculating the threshold term, expressed as a fraction (the threshold fraction) of—
 - (i) the total group debt of the borrower's worldwide group, if the threshold term is calculated under paragraph (a)(i); or
 - (ii) the total value of loans to members of the borrower's New Zealand group by persons other than associated persons excluding cross-border related borrowing, if the threshold term is calculated under paragraph (a)(ii).

Threshold term

- (6) The threshold term for the purposes of subsection (5)(a) is the total of amounts, each of which is calculated using the formula—

$$\text{term} \times \text{term debt} \div \text{long-term debt.}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (7) In the formula,—
- (a) term is the period of the loan term, calculated from the most recent date on which each loan is entered or renewed or extended:
 - (b) term debt is the total value on the calculation date of the principal amounts of loans with the loan term:
 - (c) long-term debt is—
 - (i) the total group debt having a term of more than 5 years of the borrower's worldwide group, if the threshold term is calculated for financial arrangements described in subsection (5)(a)(i); or
 - (ii) the total value of loans having a term of more than 5 years to members of the borrower's New Zealand group by persons other than associated persons excluding cross-border related borrowing, if the threshold term is calculated for financial arrangements described in subsection (5)(a)(ii).

Term of loan: adjustment

- (8) The term of a loan is adjusted to equal—
- (a) the threshold term under subsection (5)(a), if—
 - (i) the term of the loan exceeds the threshold term; and
 - (ii) the total value of loans that are cross-border related borrowing or are to members of the borrower's New Zealand group by associated persons, and having a term of more than 5 years, expressed as a proportion of the total value of loans that are cross-border related borrowing or are to members of the borrower's New Zealand group by associated persons, does not exceed the threshold fraction under subsection (5)(b); or
 - (b) 5 years, if when the loan is included, the total value of loans that are cross-border related borrowing or are to members of the borrower's New Zealand group by associated persons, and having a term of more than 5 years,—
 - (i) expressed as a proportion of the total value of loans that are cross-border related borrowing or are to members of the borrower's New Zealand group by associated persons, exceeds the threshold fraction under subsection (5)(b):
 - (ii) is more than 4 times the total value of financial arrangements with the feature that are included in total group debt of the borrower's worldwide group, when the threshold fraction is determined under subsection (5)(b)(i):

- (iii) is more than 4 times the total value of financial arrangements with the feature that are included in the debt that is financial arrangements between members of the borrower's New Zealand group and persons other than associated persons excluding cross-border related borrowing, when the threshold fraction is determined under subsection (5)(b)(ii).

Exceptions for features reflecting other borrowing

- (9) For a borrower that is not referred to as an insuring or lending person in section GC 15(2)(a), (b), or (c) and a feature of a financial arrangement other than the term of a loan, the feature is not disregarded or adjusted if—
 - (a) the feature corresponds to a feature of financial arrangements with a total value that is a fraction (the feature fraction) of the total value of financial arrangements—
 - (i) included in the total group debt of the borrower's worldwide group under subpart FE; or
 - (ii) between members of the borrower's New Zealand group under subpart FE and persons other than associated persons excluding cross-border related borrowing; and
 - (b) the feature is included in financial arrangements, between members of the borrower's New Zealand group under subpart FE and associated persons or that are cross-border related borrowing, having a total value when the loan is included that,—
 - (i) as a fraction of the total value of financial arrangements between the members of the borrower's New Zealand group and associated persons, is less than or equal to the feature fraction; and
 - (ii) if the feature fraction is determined under paragraph (a)(i), is less than or equal to 4 times the total value of financial arrangements with the feature that are included in total group debt of the borrower's worldwide group; and
 - (iii) if the feature fraction is determined under paragraph (a)(ii), is less than or equal to 4 times the total value of financial arrangements with the feature that are included in the debt that is financial arrangements between members of the borrower's New Zealand group and persons other than associated persons excluding cross-border related borrowing.

Exceptions for borrowing required for some insuring or lending persons

- (10) For a borrower that is referred to as an insuring or lending person in section GC 15(2)(a), (b), or (c) or is associated with such a person, a feature of a financial arrangement is not disregarded or adjusted if,—

- (a) for a borrower referred to in section GC 15(2)(a), the feature reflects a requirement, applicable when the financial arrangement is entered, for an arrangement to be recognised by the Reserve Bank of New Zealand as regulatory capital for a member of the New Zealand banking group of a registered bank:
- (b) for a borrower who is associated with a person (the banking associate) referred to in section GC 15(2)(a),—
 - (i) the financial arrangement (the funding arrangement) is entered for the purpose of providing funds for a financial arrangement or excepted financial arrangement (the funded arrangement), to be entered by the banking associate to satisfy regulatory capital requirements; and
 - (ii) the features of the funding arrangement reflect the features of the funded arrangement; and
 - (iii) the feature reflects a feature of the funded arrangement that meets the requirements of paragraph (a):
- (c) for a borrower referred to in section GC 15(2)(b), the feature reflects solvency capital requirements that relate to features of loans and are imposed, when the financial arrangement is entered, on a licensed insurer as a condition of licence under the Insurance (Prudential Supervision) Act 2010:
- (d) for a borrower who is associated with a person (the insuring associate) referred to in section GC 15(2)(b),—
 - (i) the financial arrangement (the funding arrangement) is entered for the purpose of providing funds for a financial arrangement (the funded arrangement), to be entered by the insuring associate to satisfy solvency capital requirements; and
 - (ii) the features of the funding arrangement reflect the features of the funded arrangement; and
 - (iii) the feature reflects a feature of the funded arrangement that meets the requirements of paragraph (c):
- (e) for a borrower referred to in section GC 15(2)(c), the feature reflects minimum capital ratio requirements that relate to features of loans and are imposed, when the financial arrangement is entered, on a non-bank deposit taker by the non-bank deposit taker's trust deed and regulations 8 and 10 of the Deposit Takers (Credit Ratings, Capital Ratios, and Related Party Exposures) Regulations 2010:
- (f) for a borrower who is associated with a person (the deposit taker associate) referred to in section GC 15(2)(c),—
 - (i) the financial arrangement (the funding arrangement) is entered for the purpose of providing funds for a financial arrangement (the

- funded arrangement), to be entered by the deposit taker associate to satisfy minimum capital ratio requirements; and

Defined in this Act: adjusted tax value, Commissioner, deduction, depreciable property, depreciation loss, dispose, financial arrangement, income, return of income, revenue account property, tax position, trading stock

Section GC 20: inserted, on 1 July 2021, by section 83(1) (and see section 83(2) for application) of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2020–21, Feasibility Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Act 2021 (2021 No 8).

GC 21 Purchase price allocation required: no agreement

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when—
- (a) for consideration, a person (person A) disposes (the disposal), to another person (person B), items of property (the purchased property) that, for person A or for person B, fall into 2 or more of the following classes (the classes of purchased property) and the relevant person uses different income tax treatments for 2 or more of the classes of purchased property:
 - (i) trading stock, other than timber or a right to take timber:
 - (ii) timber or a right to take timber:
 - (iii) depreciable property, other than buildings:
 - (iv) buildings that are depreciable property:
 - (v) financial arrangements:

- (vi) purchased property for which the disposal does not give rise to assessable income for person A or deductions for person B; and
- (b) person A and person B have not agreed, and have not recorded in a document, amounts of the total consideration allocated to any of the classes of purchased property before the earlier of—
 - (i) the day person A files a return of income in relation to their tax position for the purchased property:
 - (ii) the day person B files a return of income in relation to their tax position for the purchased property.

When this section does not apply

- (2) This section does not apply if—
 - (a) the total consideration for the purchased property in the disposal is less than $1 million; or
 - (b) the only purchased property in the disposal is residential land together with its chattels, and the total consideration for them is less than $7.5 million.

Allocated amount: person A

- (3) If subsection (1)(a) applies for person A, person A may notify both the Commissioner and person B of the amounts (the allocated amounts) allocated by person A to the classes of purchased property within 3 months of the change in ownership of the purchased property. An allocated amount must reflect the greater of—
 - (a) the relative market value of the relevant class of purchased property proportional to the other classes of purchased property; and
 - (b) person A's tax book value for the relevant class of property described in subsection (1)(a)(i) to (v).

Allocated amount: person A: excess allocation

- (4) If the total amounts that would be allocated by subsection (3) exceed the consideration payable for all of the classes of purchased property, then the excess is applied—
 - (a) first, to reduce any amount allocated to the class of property described in subsection (1)(a)(vi):
 - (b) second, to reduce, pro rata, any amounts allocated to the classes of property described in subsection (1)(a)(i) to (v).

Allocated amount: person B

- (5) If person A does not notify person B as provided for in subsection (3), person B may notify the Commissioner and person A of the amounts (the allocated amounts) allocated by person B to the classes of purchased property within 6 months of the change in ownership of the purchased property. An allocated amount must reflect the relative market value of the relevant class of purchased property proportional to the other classes of purchased property.

Non-compliance

- (6) If person A and person B do not notify the relevant people in accordance with subsection (3) or (5), the Commissioner may allocate, to the relevant classes of purchased property (the allocated amounts),—
- (a) the amounts allocated by person A to the classes of purchased property:
 - (b) the amounts allocated by person B to the classes of purchased property:
 - (c) amounts that reflect the relative market value of the relevant class of purchased property, proportional to the other classes of purchased property.

Allocated amounts enforced, at market

- (7) A class of purchased property is treated as disposed of and acquired for the relevant allocated amount provided by subsections (3) to (6).

No deduction until allocation

- (8) Person B's deductions in relation to consideration for purchased property are not allocated to an income year, and are not included in person B's annual total deductions for any tax year, except to the extent provided by this section.

Allocation when allocation notice timely

- (9) Person B's deductions in relation to consideration for purchased property are allocated to income years in accordance with section BD 4 (Allocation of deductions to particular income years), if allocation notification occurs in the income year that the purchased property is disposed of (the purchase year) or if the deductions are not pre-allocation deductions.

Allocation when allocation notice not timely

- (10) If subsections (1)(a) and (5) apply to person B and if allocation notification occurs in an income year after the purchase year, then pre-allocation deductions are allocated to the earliest year (the allocation year) for which person B's return of income is not filed or due at the time of allocation notification. The allocation year may correspond to the purchase year, but the allocation year must not be earlier than the purchase year. Example: the purchase year for purchased property is 2025–26. 2027–28 is the income year that allocation notification occurs. At the time of allocation notification, person B's return of income for 2026–27 is not filed or due. Consequently, pre-allocation deductions are allocated to the 2026–27 income year.

Exception: low value depreciable property

- (11) Subsection (6)(c) does not apply to an item of purchased property that is an item of depreciable property, if—
- (a) the original cost of the item for person A is less than $10,000; and

- (b) the total allocated amount for the item and for any identical property is less than $1 million; and
- (c) the allocated amount for the item is—
 - (i) no greater than its original cost for person A; and
 - (ii) no less than its tax book value.

Relationship with subject matter

- (12) This section overrides a provision of this Act that expressly requires the use of the market value for purchased property, to the extent to which subsection (7) treats the relevant class of purchased property as disposed of and acquired for an amount that is provided by this section.

Definitions

- (13) In this section and section GC 20,—
- (a) allocation notification means the earliest of the following:
 - (i) the time when person B's notification of person B's allocation is provided to the Commissioner in the form prescribed by the Commissioner;
 - (ii) the time when the Commissioner's notification of the Commissioner's allocation under subsection (6) is provided to person B:
 - (b) pre-allocation deduction means person B's deductions in relation to consideration for purchased property that, ignoring this section, would be allocated to an income year before the income year that allocation notification occurs:
 - (c) tax book value, for a class of property, means the total amount that person A uses or would use, for purchased property in the class of property, in calculating person A's tax position for their income year in which the change in ownership of the purchased property occurs. The tax book value is adjusted, part-year, for a change in ownership that occurs part-year. Example: the tax book value of a financial arrangement is the consideration that would give an amount of income or expenditure under section EW 31 (Base price adjustment formula) equal to the income or expenditure that person A would have for the purchased property in the year of disposal for the period before the change in ownership of the purchased property (the part-year period) using the relevant spreading method for the purchased property for the part-year period, pro rata.

Defined in this Act: adjusted tax value, Commissioner, deduction, diminished value, depreciable property, depreciation loss, dispose, financial arrangement, income, residential land, return of income, revenue account property, tax position, trading stock

Section GC 21: inserted, on 1 July 2021, by section 83(1) (and see section 83(2) for application) of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2020–21, Feasibility Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Act 2021 (2021 No 8).

Effective interests in qualifying companies

HA 43 Meaning of effective interest

What this section does

- (1) This section defines an effective interest in a company, which is the measure of a person's liability under section HA 8.

Effective interest

- (2) Effective interest for a person and a company, at a particular time or for an income year, means—
 - (a) the person's voting interest in the company at the time or for the income year, unless paragraph (b) applies:
 - (b) if there is a market value circumstance for the company at the time or at some time during the income year, the average of—
 - (i) the person's voting interest in the company at the time or for the income year; and
 - (ii) the person's market value interest in the company at the time or for the income year.

Defined in this Act: company, effective interest, income year, market value circumstance, market value interest, voting interest

Compare: 2004 No 35 s OB 1 "effective interest"

HA 44 Measuring effective interests

Subpart YC

- (1) A person's voting interest and market value interest in a company is measured under subpart YC (Measurement of company ownership). If the person is a company, the voting interest and market value interest are measured at a particular time or for an income year under those sections as if—

- (a) the person were not a company; and
- (b) sections YC 4 and YC 6 (which relate to corporate shareholders and certain excluded securities) did not apply.

If interests vary during income year

- (2) If a person's voting interest or market value interest varies during an income year, the measure of their effective interest is the weighted average of their voting interest or market value interest, as applicable, for the income year.

If election made during income year

- (3) If a shareholder makes an election under section HA 5 after the start of the income year, their voting interest and market value interest is measured from the earliest day in the income year when they became a shareholder in the company, even if the day is earlier than the date of the election.

Shareholders' interests after revocation

- (4) A person who revokes an election under section HA 32 or HA 33 is treated as having no voting interest and no market value interest for the period of the income year after the revocation takes effect unless they make a later election for the same income year. In this subsection, the person is a trustee when an election is made under section HA 28 by a person other than the trustee.

When majority shareholders' liabilities excluded

- (5) If a majority shareholder has made an election and agreed under sections HA 8 and HA 29 to take personal liability to the extent of a minority shareholder's effective interest in the company, any effective interest for which the minority shareholder has agreed to be personally liable under section HA 8 is excluded in measuring the majority shareholder's effective interest.

Minority shareholder's liability after revocation

- (6) If a majority shareholder's election is revoked under section HA 32(1) or HA 33(1)(d), the effective interest of the minority shareholder for which the majority shareholder is liable is treated as zero for the part of the income year that follows the day on which the revocation takes effect.

Defined in this Act: company, effective interest, income year, market value interest, shareholder, trustee, voting interest

Compare: 2004 No 35 s HG 2

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of this Act, other than the PAYE rules, the FBT rules, the NRWT rules, the RWT rules, the ESCT rules, and the RSCT rules, for a person in their capacity of owner of an effective look-through interest for a look-through company (the LTC), for an income year, if—
 - (a) for the LTC, an LTC election described in section HB 13(1) and (2) has been received by the Commissioner under section HB 13(3) and (4) for the income year; and
 - (b) the LTC meets the requirements in the definition of look-through company at all times in the income year; and
 - (c) the election has not been revoked for the income year by an owner of a look-through interest for the LTC by notice received by the Commissioner before the start of the income year.

When this section applies: Commissioner's discretion as to revocation

- (2) A revocation notice that is received by the Commissioner after the start of the income year is treated as received before the start of the income year if the Commissioner decides that exceptional circumstances are the sole cause of the lateness.

When this section applies: revocation ignored

- (3) An owner's revocation notice for the income year is ignored for the purposes of this section and section HB 13(4)(a) if the owner stops having a look-through interest in the LTC and the new owner reverses the revocation notice before the start of the income year by notice to the Commissioner.

Look-through for effective look-through interest

- (4) For a person, unless the context requires otherwise,—
- (a) the person is treated as carrying on an activity carried on by the LTC, and having a status, intention, and purpose of the LTC, and the LTC is treated as not carrying on the activity or having the status, intention, or purpose:
 - (b) the person is treated as holding property that the LTC holds, in proportion to the person's effective look-through interest, and the LTC is treated as not holding the property:

 - (d) the person is treated as doing a thing and being entitled to a thing that the LTC does or is entitled to, in proportion to the person's effective look-through interest, and the LTC is treated as not doing the thing or being entitled to the thing.

Effective look-through interest

- (5) For the purposes of this section, effective look-through interest means for a person and an LTC, treating the LTC as a company for the purposes of this subsection,—
- (a) a person's average daily look-through interest for the company for the income year, if there is no market value circumstance for the LTC and paragraph (b) does not apply:
 - (b) a person's look-through interest for the relevant time of look-through under subsection (4), if there is no market value circumstance for the LTC, and—
 - (i) the assessable income of the LTC, ignoring this subpart, is or will be $3,000,000 or more in a 12-month period including the relevant time of look-through, and the Commissioner has notified the LTC that look-through interests for the relevant time of look-through under subsection (4) must be used under this section:
 - (ii) all persons with look-through interests have agreed to use their look-through interests for the relevant time of look-through:

- (c) if there is a market value circumstance for the LTC and paragraph (d) does not apply, the average of the following 2 amounts:
 - (i) a person's average daily look-through interest for the income year:
 - (ii) a person's average daily market value interest for the income year:
- (d) if there is a market value circumstance for the LTC, and the assessable income and notification requirements described in paragraph (b)(i) are met, the average of the following 2 amounts:
 - (i) a person's look-through interest for the time of look-through under subsection (4):
 - (ii) a person's market value interest for the time of look-through under subsection (4).

 - (ab) if the person has FIF income or a FIF loss, an amount under subsection (7B);
 - (b) capital gain amounts under section CD 44(7)(a) (Available capital distribution amount) that the person would have by virtue of section HB 1 in the income year and previous income years, if the person were treated as

Definition of items in formula

- (c) deductions that the person is allowed in previous income years in relation to assessable income described in subsection (7)(c), if the deduction is not accounted for under subsection (6) or paragraph (a) or (b) of this subsection.

Disallowed amount

- (9) Disallowed amount is the amount of investments, as defined in subsection (5), made by the person within 60 days of the end of the income year, if those investments are or will be distributed or reduced within 60 days of the end of the income year, but an amount of investment made by the person within 60 days of the end of the income year is not a disallowed amount if the total amount distributed or reduced within 60 days of the end of the income year is $10,000 or less.

Exclusion

- (10) This section does not deny a person (the exiting person) a deduction that is equal to or less than the amount of net income that the exiting person has for the amount paid or payable to the exiting person for the disposal of their owner's interests, ignoring other transactions.

HB 12 Limitation on deductions by owners of look-through companies: carry-forward

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when, for an income year, a person is denied a deduction under section HB 11.

Carry-forward: conditional on continued existence of look-through company and holding of effective look-through interest

- (2) The person is allowed a deduction, for an amount for which the person is denied a deduction under section HB 11, for the income year (the later year) after the income year for which it is denied under section HB 11, unless—
- (a) the look-through company ceases to be a look-through company in the later year:
 - (b) the person ceases to have an effective look-through interest in the later year.

Carry-forward: resumption

- (3) If a person would have been allowed a deduction for an amount but for the application of subsection (2)(a) or (b) for the later year, they are allowed a deduction for the amount for the first income year after the later year in which either they resume an effective look-through interest for the look-through company, or the relevant company resumes being a look-through company. However, the amount of that deduction is reduced by the total amount allowed as a deduction under subsections (4) and (5).

Exception for deductions against continuing company dividends

- (4) Despite subsection (2), the person is allowed a deduction for the later year for an amount (the protected amount) for which they would have been allowed a deduction but for the application of subsection (2)(a) or (b) for the later year to the extent to which the protected amount is equal to or lesser than the dividends received by the person from the company for the later year.

Further deductions against continuing company dividends

- (5) For an income year after the later year, an amount equal to the protected amount reduced by the total of deductions allowed in income years before the income year under subsection (4) and this subsection, is allowed as a deduction for the person to the extent to which the amount is equal to or less than the dividends received by the person from the company for the income year.

Relationship with subject matter

- (6) A deduction allowed under this section, other than under subsection (4) or (5), is subject to section HB 11, to the extent to which that section applies to the deduction and the relevant person.

Defined in this Act: amount, deduction, dividend, effective look-through interest, income year, look-through company

Section HB 12: inserted, on 1 April 2011 (applying for income years beginning on or after 1 April 2011, and for the purposes of the Commissioner receiving LTC elections, on and after 21 December 2010), by section 78(1) of the Taxation (GST and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 130).

HB 13 LTC elections

LTC elections

- (1) For the purposes of section HB 1, an LTC election (the election) is a notice that—
- (a) is signed and dated by a director of the company that becomes a look-through company (the LTC) or other agent with appropriate authority; and
 - (b) is in the form prescribed by the Commissioner; and
 - (c) specifies an income year beginning on or after 1 April 2011 for which it may first operate; and
 - (d) has attached to it notices—
 - (i) signed and dated by all persons who, on the date of signing the election, own look-through interests in the LTC; and
 - (ii) evidence unanimous agreement of the owners in choosing to apply section HB 1.

Legal incapacities

- (2) If a person owns a look-through interest in the LTC, and either they are under 18 years old with a guardian or a contract they enter into could be unenforceable, cancelled, void, or voidable due to any legal incapacity other than age, the notice requirement in subsection (1)(d) is modified so as to require a guardian, person with power of attorney, or other legal representative to sign and date the notice, instead of the person.

Time of receipt of LTC elections

- (3) For the purposes of section HB 1, the election—

- (a) must be received by the Commissioner before the start of the income year specified in the election; or
- (b) in the case of a company that has not previously been required to file a return of income for a year before the income year specified in the election, must be received by the Commissioner before the last day for filing the return of income required by section 42B of the Tax Administration Act 1994 for the year specified in the election; or
- (c) in the case of a company that was a qualifying company that first becomes a look-through company for the first or second income year that starts on or after 1 April 2011, must be received by the Commissioner within 6 months of the start of the relevant transitional income year described in section HZ 4C(1) (Qualifying companies: transition into look-through companies).

Income year for which LTC elections are treated as received

- (4) For the purposes of section HB 1, the election is treated as received for the first relevant income year described in subsection (3) and for each income year after that one, except it is treated as not received by the Commissioner for an income year (the income year) and subsequent income years if—
 - (a) the election has been revoked for the income year under section HB 1:
 - (b) the LTC does not meet the requirements in the definition of look-through company at all times in the income year:
 - (c) the income year is 1 of the 2 income years straight after an income year for which either the LTC ceases to be a look-through company or the relevant election for the LTC is revoked.

Commissioner's discretion as to LTC elections

- (5) An election that is late or does not have each person signing and dating as required by subsection (1)(a) and (d) is treated as an election that has been received by the Commissioner for the income year under subsection (3) but subject to subsection (4), if all relevant persons sign and date it during the income year it may first operate, and the Commissioner decides that exceptional circumstances are the sole cause of the lateness or failure to sign and date.

Valuation transfer

- (6) An entity that ceases to be a company upon becoming an LTC is treated as having, as an LTC, the same status, intention, purpose, and tax book values it had as a company for its assets, liabilities, and associated legal rights and obligations.

Defined in this Act: Commissioner, company, director, income year, look-through company, look-through interest, notice, qualifying company, return of income

HC 16 Ordering rule for distributions from non-complying and foreign trusts

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of the trust rules when a trustee of a non-complying trust or a foreign trust makes a distribution in an income year to a beneficiary. Subsections (6) and (7) override this subsection.

Order of elements of distribution

- (2) The distribution is treated as consisting of the following elements in the following order:
 - (aa) first, an amount derived by the trustee that is beneficiary income of the beneficiary in the previous income year:
 - (a) second, an amount of income that the trustee derives in the income year:
 - (b) third, an amount of income, other than beneficiary income, that the trustee has derived in an earlier income year:
 - (c) fourth, an amount that the trustee derives in the income year from the realisation of a capital asset of the trust or another capital gain and that is not income under section HC 15(5B) for the purposes of this section:
 - (d) fifth, an amount that the trustee has derived in an earlier income year from the realisation of a capital asset of the trust or another capital gain:
 - (e) last, the corpus of the trust.

Order and elements

- (3) In subsection (2),—
- (a) an amount must not be treated as included in the distribution if the amount has been treated under this section as being included in an earlier or contemporaneous distribution from the trust;
 - (b) the paragraphs are applied in order, and the next paragraph applies only to the extent to which the amount of the distribution is more than the cumulative amounts described in that paragraph and the preceding paragraphs.

Deductions and capital losses subtracted

- (4) For the purposes of subsection (2),—
- (a) in paragraphs (a) and (b), the amount of income is determined after subtracting the amount of a deduction that is taken into account in the income year in the calculation of net or taxable income for the corresponding tax year;
 - (b) in paragraphs (c) and (d), the amount is determined after subtracting the amount of a capital loss that the trustee incurs in the income year.

Transactions that are not genuine

- (5) In the determination of the elements of a distribution to a beneficiary (beneficiary A), no amount of income or capital gain derived by the trustee of the trust is treated as distributed to another beneficiary of the trust (beneficiary B) if the effect is that some or all of the distribution to beneficiary A would be treated as not being beneficiary income or a taxable distribution, unless the distribution to beneficiary B meets all the following requirements:
- (a) it is a genuine transaction entered into and carried out in good faith; and
 - (b) [Repealed]
 - (c) it does not itself constitute a settlement.

Exclusions: terms of trust

- (6) This section does not apply to the following distributions which are instead treated as consisting of the amount that reflects the terms of the trust or the terms of the exercise of the trustee's discretion:
- (a) a distribution by the trustee of a complying trust which is treated as exempt income under section CW 53 (Distributions from complying trusts), unless an election to pay income tax on trustee income has been made for the purposes of section HZ 2 (Trusts that may become complying trusts); or
 - (b) a distribution from a non-discretionary trust—
 - (i) created by will or codicil, or by an order of court varying or modifying the provisions of a will or codicil; or

- (ii) created on an intestacy or partial intestacy; or
- (iii) on which no settlement has been made after 17 December 1987;
or
- (c) a distribution from a trust, other than a non-complying trust, that is settled by a natural person and for which an election is made under section HC 30(2).

Exclusions: taxable distributions

- (7) This section does not apply to a distribution described in section HC 15(6).

Meaning of non-discretionary trust

- (8) In this section, a non-discretionary trust is a trust in relation to which the trustee has no discretion as to the source, nature, and amount of distributions to beneficiaries, including but not limited to the classification of trust property as capital or income.

Defined in this Act: amount, beneficiary income, complying trust, corpus, deduction, distribution, exempt income, foreign trust, income, income tax, income year, net income, New Zealand resident, non-complying trust, non-discretionary trust, settlement, tax year, taxable distribution, taxable income, trust rules, trustee, trustee income

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies to a person who makes a settlement to or for the benefit of a trust after 17 December 1987, and the settlor is resident in New Zealand in an income year. It applies whether or not they settled property on the trust on or before that date. Subsections (3) and (4) override this subsection.

Liable as agent

- (2) If a trustee of the trust derives trustee income in the income year, the settlor is liable as agent of the trustee for income tax payable by the trustee. For a trust with more than 1 settlor, the liability is joint and several. However, this subsection does not apply to income tax that the trustee is liable for as agent under section HC 32.

Exclusion: resident trustee

- (3) This section does not apply if the trust has a resident trustee for the full income year or, if the first settlement on the terms of the trust is made during the income year, from the day on which the settlement is made to the end of the income year.

Exclusion: trust types

- (4) This section does not apply to the settlor of—
- (a) a charitable trust; or
 - (b) a superannuation fund; or
 - (c) a trust to the extent to which trustee income is derived from the settlor's remitting an amount under a financial arrangement to which section EW 31 or EZ 38 (which relate to base price adjustments) applies.

Exclusion: settlor not resident at time of settlement

- (5) This section does not apply if the settlor is a natural person who, unless they make an election under section HC 33,—
- (a) is not resident in New Zealand at the time of any settlement on the trust; and
 - (b) had not after 17 December 1987 previously been resident in New Zealand.

Exclusion: other settlor more appropriately liable

- (6) This section does not apply to the extent to which the settlor establishes, through full disclosure to the Commissioner of the settlements made, that another person who has settled property on the trust should be liable, having regard to the respective settlements made.

Limited effect of disclosure

- (7) Subsection (6) does not apply to determine whether the tax obligations in relation to the trustee's income tax liability are met for the purposes of section HC 10(1)(a) and (ab) and meeting the requirements for a complying trust.

Defined in this Act: agent, amount, charitable trust, Commissioner, complying trust, financial arrangement, income tax, income tax liability, income year, pay, resident in New Zealand, settlement, settlor, superannuation fund, trustee, trustee income

Treatment of transition situationsHC 30 Treatment of foreign trusts when settlor becomes residentWhat this section applies to*

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of section HC 15 and the definition of taxable distribution when—
- (a) a settlor of a trust is a natural person who on a day (the transition date)—
 - (i) becomes resident in New Zealand and is not a transitional resident;
 - (ii) stops being a transitional resident and continues to be a New Zealand resident; and
 - (b) the trust would be a foreign trust in relation to a distribution if a distribution were made immediately before the settlor became resident.

Choosing to satisfy tax liability

- (2) A settlor, trustee, or beneficiary of the trust may choose to satisfy the income tax liability of the trustee under section HC 33. They must make the election by the election expiry date.

Tax consequences of making election

- (3) If an election under subsection (2) is made, the trust is treated as follows:
- (a) as a foreign trust to the extent to which the distribution consists of an amount derived by the trustee before the date of the election and which does not give rise after the transition date to an income tax liability that is paid before the distribution is made:
 - (b) as a complying trust to the extent to which the distribution consists of an amount that is derived by the trustee—
 - (i) before the date of the election and gives rise on or after the transition date to an income tax liability that is paid before the distribution is made; or
 - (ii) on or after the date of the election, if the requirements of section HC 10(1)(a) are met for the trustee income derived on or after the date of the election:
 - (c) as a non-complying trust to the extent to which the distribution consists of an amount that would not be included in a distribution described in paragraphs (a) and (b).

Tax consequences when no election made

- (4) If an election under subsection (2) is not made, the trust is treated as follows:
- (a) as a foreign trust to the extent to which the distribution consists of an amount that is derived by the trustee before the election expiry date and does not give rise on or after the transition date to an income tax liability:
 - (ab) as a complying trust to the extent to which the distribution consists of an amount derived by the trustee that gives rise on or after the transition date to an income tax liability meeting the requirements of subsection (4B) or section HC 10(1)(ab):
 - (b) as a non-complying trust to the extent to which the distribution consists of an amount derived by the trustee that gives rise on or after the transition date to an income tax liability that is not satisfied before the distribution is made.

Tax shortfall voluntarily disclosed

- (4B) An income tax liability meets the requirements of this subsection if—
- (a) the income tax liability is satisfied before the distribution is made, other than for the trust as a complying trust under an election under section HC 33; and

- (b) the income tax liability gives rise to a tax shortfall for the trustee for an income year ending before the distribution is made; and
- (c) where a shortfall penalty arises for the tax shortfall, the shortfall penalty is satisfied before the distribution is made.

Election expiry date

- (5) In this section, the election expiry date is the day that is the first anniversary of the transition date.

Calculating income derived before election or election expiry date

- (6) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (4), the amount derived in the part of the income year before the person makes the election, or before the election expiry date, as applicable, is at the option of the person either—
 - (a) the amount actually derived in the part year; or
 - (b) an amount calculated using the formula—

$$\frac{\text{amount derived in income year of election}}{\times \text{days before election date or election expiry date}} \div 365.$$

Defined in this Act: amount, complying trust, distribution, election expiry date, foreign trust, income tax liability, income year, non-complying trust, resident in New Zealand, settlor, taxable distribution, transitional resident, trustee

HC 31 When existing trusts come into tax base

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies if, through a change in circumstances, an amount derived by a trustee of a trust on a day in an income year is assessable income when it would not have been assessable income had it been derived before that day. Examples of a change in circumstances are—
- (a) a non-resident settlor becomes resident in New Zealand, see section HC 30.
 - (b) [Repealed]

When this section does not apply

Person able to make choice

- (2) The choice given in subsections (3) and (4) is to be made by the person who is liable to satisfy the income tax liability of the trustee.

 - (b) the value that would be used at that date under this Act, calculated as if the trustee income derived by the trustee had always been assessable income.

Consideration for financial arrangements

- (4) For the purposes of this Act, the consideration for a financial arrangement of the trust at the date of the change in circumstances is either—
- (a) the market value of the financial arrangement on that date; or
 - (b) the value calculated using the formula—

$$\begin{aligned} &\text{consideration paid to person} + \text{expenditure} \\ &- \text{consideration paid by person} - \text{income.} \end{aligned}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula,—

- (a) consideration paid to person is the consideration that is paid to the person before the date:
- (b) expenditure is the expenditure that would have been incurred under the financial arrangements rules before the date:

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when a person (the creditor) provides financial assistance to or for the benefit of another person (the debtor) with an obligation (the debtor obligation) that the debtor could meet, if performance of the obligation were demanded immediately after the time of the provision, by paying an amount (the debt amount) and—

Definition of items in formula

- (4) In the formula,—

 - (b) interest paid is the total of—
 - (i) the amount of interest that accrues on the debt amount during the period:

What this section applies to

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of a calculation under section HM 36(2).

Net amounts

- (2) The net amount for an investor class of a multi-rate PIE for an attribution period is calculated using the formula—assessable income – deductions.

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula in subsection (2),—
- (a) assessable income is the total amount of the PIE's assessable income attributed to the class for the attribution period in the manner referred to in subsection (8), including any tax credits received for the income but not including the amount of any supplementary dividends;
 - (b) deductions is the total amount of the PIE's expenditure or loss for which the PIE is allowed a deduction that is—
 - (i) incurred by the PIE in deriving the assessable income referred to in paragraph (a); and
 - (ii) attributed to the class for the attribution period.

Net income or net loss

- (4) If the result of the formula is positive, the amount is net income of the class for the period. If the result of the formula is negative, the amount is a net loss of the class for the period.

Taxable amounts

- (5) The taxable amount for an investor class of a multi-rate PIE for an attribution period is calculated using the formula—

net income – net loss – other loss used.

Definition of items in formula

- (6) In the formula in subsection (5),—
- (a) net income is the amount of the PIE's net income referred to in subsection (4);
 - (b) net loss is the amount of the PIE's net loss referred to in subsection (4);
 - (c) other loss used is the lesser of the following amounts:

- (ii) the total amount of net income referred to in paragraph (a).

Taxable income or tax loss

- (7) If the result of the formula is positive, the amount is taxable income of the class for the period. If the result of the formula is negative, the amount is a tax loss of the class for the period.

Use of valuations or financial statements

- (8) Income and deductions of the multi-rate PIE are allocated to investors and investor classes for attribution periods as—
- (a) reflected in the PIE's valuation of investor interests, if the PIE makes these valuations:
 - (b) shown in the PIE's financial statements, if the PIE does not make the valuations referred to in paragraph (a).

 - (a) for future income, an amount that, when derived, would be assessable income under section HM 35(3)(a):
 - (b) for future expenditure or loss,—
 - (i) an expense likely to be incurred by the PIE in the tax year in which the attribution period falls, or within 93 days after the end of the tax year; and

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies to a PIE for the 2010–11 tax year if section HM 42 applies to the PIE for that year and the PIE chooses to apply this section by filing a return under section 57B(5) or (7) of the Tax Administration Act 1994 in accordance with this section.

Part-year tax calculations: description

- (2) For calculating their income tax liability for the 2010–11 tax year, the PIE treats references to an income year or a tax year as if they are references to 2 separate tax years and corresponding income years within that tax year, divided by 1 October 2010 (for example: an amount of income attributed to a date before 1 October 2010 is included in the first part-year and taxed using the notified investor rate advised before 1 October 2010. A notified investor rate advised on or after 1 October 2010 is applied only to the amount of income attributed to the second part-year).

Part-year tax calculations: effect

- (3) The part-year calculations may give rise to income and deductions for the income year and they do create part-year tax return obligations, except that the requirement for returns under section 57B(7)(a) of the Tax Administration Act 1994 and for notice in relation to investors or proxies under section 31C(4) of that Act can be met by sending returns or notices on a full-year or part-year basis. The 2 part-year calculations create 2 income tax liabilities for 2 part-years.

Foreign tax credits: special rule

- (4) Despite subsections (2) and (3), tax credits under subpart LJ (Tax credits for foreign income tax) may be used in accordance with section HM 51 in either part-year, if they are attributable to the first part-year.

Quarterly payment

- (2) The PIE must pay to the Commissioner the amount of its income tax liability for the quarter within 1 month of the end of the quarter.

- (3) If the investor interest of an investor in the PIE has reached the exit level, they are treated under section HM 61 as zero-rated for the exit period which includes a grace period of 5 working days after the end of the quarter. This subsection does not apply if the PIE voluntarily chooses to pay an amount under section HM 45.

Exiting investors: remaining value to Commissioner

- (4) If the investor interest of an investor at the end of an exit period is more than zero, the PIE must pay an amount equal to the value of the interest to the Commissioner at the same time as the payment referred to in subsection (2).

Provisional tax rules

- (5) The PIE is not required to pay provisional tax under subpart RC (Provisional tax) for the tax year.

HM 44B NRWT calculation option

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when—
- (a) a foreign investment PIE—
 - (i) derives a dividend that is not fully imputed from a company resident in New Zealand; and
 - (ii) pays an amount that represents some or all of the amount of the dividend to a notified foreign investor in the PIE by the date on which the PIE is required to pay its income tax liability under section HM 42 or HM 43, as applicable; and
 - (b) the PIE chooses to calculate and pay the tax liability in relation to the amount under subpart RF (Withholding tax on non-resident passive income).

When this section also applies: supplementary dividends

- (1B) This section also applies when—
- (a) a foreign investment PIE—
 - (i) derives a dividend with imputation credits attached from a company resident in New Zealand together with a related supplementary dividend; and
 - (ii) has, as an investor, a notified foreign investor who meets the requirements of section LP 2(1)(a) (Tax credits for supplementary dividends); and
 - (iii) pays the investor an amount that represents the total amount of the dividend and supplementary dividend that would be attributed to the investor in the absence of subsection (2); and

- (2) In determining the net amount for notified foreign investors under sections HM 35 and HM 36, to the extent to which the amount represents either an unimputed portion of the dividend, or a dividend together with a related supplementary dividend, as applicable, the amount is not included in—

- (a) the item assessable income in section HM 35(3):
- (b) the item income in section HM 36(3).

Non-resident passive income

- (3) The NRWT rules apply to the amount paid to the extent to which the amount represents either an unimputed portion of the dividend, or a dividend together with a related supplementary dividend, as applicable.

Relationship with section CX 56B

- (4) Despite section CX 56B (Distributions to investors in multi-rate PIEs), the amount is not excluded income of the notified foreign investor.

Relationship with section HM 35(8)

- (5) When a foreign investment PIE derives a dividend and related supplementary dividend as described in subsection (1B), the allocation rule set out in section HM 35(8) does not apply. The dividend and related supplementary dividend are treated as having been allocated on the date on which ownership of the shares determines a legal entitlement to the dividend.

HM 46 Calculation process

To calculate its tax liability, a multi-rate PIE must—

- (a) determine the net amount for each investor class of the PIE:
- (b) determine the taxable amount for each investor class of the PIE:
- (c) calculate its tax liability for each investor in an investor class for each day of an attribution period.

Defined in this Act: amount, attribution period, investor, investor class, multi-rate PIE, PIE

Compare: 2007 No 97 ss HL 19, HL 20

Section HM 46: inserted, on 1 April 2010 (applying for the 2010–11 and later income years), by section 292(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

HM 47 Calculation of tax liability or tax credit of multi-rate PIEs

What this section does

- (1) This section quantifies the amount of the tax liability or tax credit of a multi-rate PIE for a calculation period.

Calculating amount

- (2) The amount of the PIE's tax liability or tax credit is the sum of the amounts calculated using the formula in subsection (3) for—
- (a) each investor class in which the investor has an investor interest:
 - (b) each investor in an investor class:
 - (c) each attribution period in the calculation period:
 - (d) each day in an attribution period.

Notified foreign investors

- (2B) For the purposes of subsection (2), for a notified foreign investor in a foreign investment PIE, the amount of the PIE's tax liability for each investor is the sum of the amounts calculated using the formula in subsection (3) for the amount attributed to the investor for each particular income source and investment type.

Formula

- (3) The formula is—
- $$\text{rate} \times \text{amount}.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (4) In the formula,—
- (a) rate is—
 - (i) the tax rate under section HM 58 or HM 60, as applicable, that relates to the investor for each day for the period; or
 - (ib) the tax rates applying under schedule 6, table 1B (Prescribed rates: PIE investments and retirement scheme contributions) for an amount attributed to a notified foreign investor in relation to each income source and investment type; or
 - (ii) 28%, if the PIE is treated as the sole investor under section HM 37:
 - (b) amount is the amount calculated under sections HM 36(1) and (2) and HM 37, as applicable, for the investor.

Result of formula: tax liability or tax credit

- (5) If the result of the formula in subsection (3) is positive, the amount is the PIE's tax liability for the calculation period. If the result is negative, the amount is a tax credit of the PIE under section LS 1 (Tax credits for multi-rate PIEs), see section HM 55. However, a tax credit does not arise under section LS 1 for a multi-rate PIE that chooses to use the provisional tax calculation option.

Negative result and foreign investment PIEs

- (6) If the result of the formula in subsection (3) is negative and the multi-rate PIE has chosen under section HM 71B to become a foreign investment PIE, no tax credit arises in relation to an amount attributed to an investor in the PIE who is, at the time of attribution, a notified foreign investor.

Defined in this Act: amount, attribution period, calculation period, foreign investment PIE, investor, investor class, investor interest, multi-rate PIE, notified foreign investor, PIE, tax credit

What this section does

- (1) This section applies to determine the treatment of a non-resident person who is an investor in a multi-rate PIE that chooses under section HM 71B to become a foreign investment PIE. This section overrides section HM 32(1).

Notification

- (2) If the person meets the requirements of subsections (3) and (4), they may notify the PIE that they wish to be treated as a notified foreign investor.

Status requirements

- (3) The person must not be—
 - (a) resident in New Zealand; or
 - (b) a CFC; or
 - (c) a FIF for which the item income interest in section EX 50(4) (Attributable FIF income method), for a person who is a New Zealand resident and the FIF, is 10% or more; or

Cancelling status of trustee after election under section HC 33

- (8B) If a trustee of a trust who meets the requirements of subsections (3) and (4) notifies the PIE that the trustee wishes to be treated as a notified foreign investor and later becomes ineligible to be a notified foreign investor because of an election under section HC 33 (Choosing to satisfy income tax liability of trustee) for the trust, the PIE must continue to calculate the tax liability or tax credit of the PIE for the income year in which the election is made and earlier income years as if the trustee continued to be a notified foreign investor until the end of the income year.

is first performed, namely the last day of the first income year in which they are subject to sections HG 11 and HG 12; or

On and after the first day of the transitional year, the existence of the qualifying company or companies is ignored for the purposes of the Inland Revenue Acts except to the extent necessary to give effect to this section.

Taxation continuity

- (3) The moving to the partnership of the assets, liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, under a QCP transitional process is treated for the purposes of the Inland Revenue Acts as a unique form of transference for such assets, liabilities, rights, and obligations, with the following effects:
- (a) the moving to the partnership of the assets, liabilities, and associated legal rights and obligations, is treated as not being a transfer of such assets, liabilities, rights, and obligations:
 - (b) the qualifying company or companies has, before the first day of the transitional income year, the relevant tax situation in relation to the assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations (the historical tax situations):
 - (c) the partnership is treated as stepping into the place of the qualifying company or companies, and as having, on and after the first day of the transitional income year,—

Calculations under section HG 11(7)(b) and (8)(b) are changed to account for the valuation under this paragraph; or
 - (b) they may choose to apply section HG 11(3) as if the qualifying company had always been a limited partnership and all relevant rules relating to limited partnerships had always existed, applying those rules with any necessary modifications.

Initial basis not less than zero

- (6) If the application of sections HG 11 and HG 12, as modified by this section, calculates a partner's basis as less than zero, then the partner's basis is treated as being zero.

- (b) the partners, or in the case of a limited partnership, the partners other than a company that is a general partner, are the same persons who, at the end of the income year before the transitional income year, were the shareholders of the qualifying company or companies, ignoring any person who dies in the transitional year; and
- (c) all assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, of the qualifying companies are moved to the partnership, excluding those that are inappropriate for a partnership; and
- (d) each partner must have the same net position in the partnership as to relevant assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, as would arise on the winding up of the qualifying company or companies at the end of the income year before the transitional income year, treating any person who dies in the transitional year as still being a partner.

HZ 4D Qualifying companies: transition into sole traderships

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when a QCST transitional process is carried out for a qualifying company for the first or second income year, whichever is relevant, that starts on or after 1 April 2011 (the transitional income year).

QCST transitional process: retrospective rule

- (2) From the first day of the transitional income year to the first day of existence for the sole tradership that effectively replaces the qualifying company under a QCST transitional process, the sole tradership is treated as existing and having the assets and liabilities of the qualifying company, and associated rights and obligations, for that period. On and after the first day of the transitional year, the existence of the qualifying company is ignored for the purposes of the Inland Revenue Acts except to the extent necessary to give effect to this section.

Taxation continuity

- (3) The moving to the sole tradership of the assets, liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, under a QCST transitional process is treated for the purposes of the Inland Revenue Acts as a unique form of transference for such assets, liabilities, rights, and obligations, with the following effects:
 - (a) the moving to the sole tradership of the assets, liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, is treated as not being a transfer of such assets, liabilities, rights, and obligations:

- (b) the qualifying company has, before the first day of the transitional income year, the tax situation in relation to the assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations (the historical tax situation):
- (c) the sole tradership is treated as stepping into the place of the qualifying company, and as having, on and after the first day of the transitional income year,—
 - (i) the qualifying company's historical tax situation; and
 - (ii) the tax situation in relation to the assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, that it would have if it had always had the historical tax situation:
- (d) the qualifying company has no tax situation in relation to the assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, on and after the first day of the transitional income year:
- (e) all memorandum account balances and other tax accounting amounts for the qualifying company before the first day of the transitional income year are ignored and have no effect on and after that day (for example, the qualifying company has no effective ASC on and after the first day of the transitional income year).

Meaning of QCST transitional process

- (4) QCST transitional process means a process, for which all outcomes are achieved in an income year (the transitional income year), by which a company that is a qualifying company at the end of the income year before the transitional income year is transformed into a sole tradership. The process must have the following outcomes:
 - (a) the Commissioner receives a notice from the qualifying company before the day that is 6 months after the start of the transitional income year, stating an intention to revoke the company's qualifying company status and to complete the QCST transitional process relating to the sole tradership for the transitional income year; and
 - (b) the sole tradership is the same natural person who, at the end of the income year before the transitional income year, is the sole shareholder of the qualifying company; and
 - (c) all assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, of the qualifying company are moved to the sole tradership, excluding those that are inappropriate for a sole tradership.

When this section applies

Exemption

- (2) Section HB 4(6) (General provisions relating to disposals) does not apply to the cessation.

Company steps into place

- (3) An entity that ceases to be an LTC is treated as having, as a company, the tax position it has, ignoring section HB 1(4) (Look-through companies are transparent), immediately before it ceases, and the owners are treated as not having that tax position.

Defined in this Act: company, income year, look-through company, tax position

Section HZ 4E: inserted, on 1 April 2017, by section 145 of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2016–17, Closely Held Companies, and Remedial Matters) Act 2017 (2017 No 14).

HZ 5 Transitional provisions for PIE rules

Intention of new law

- (1) The PIE rules are the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2007 relating to portfolio investment entities in rewritten form, and are intended to have the same effect as the relevant corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Act 2007. Subsection (3) overrides this subsection.

Using old law as interpretation guide

- (2) Unless subsection (3) applies, in circumstances where the meaning of a PIE rule (the new law) is unclear or gives rise to absurdity—
- (a) the wording of the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2007 relating to portfolio investment entities that correspond to and are replaced by the PIE rules (the old law) must be used to determine the correct meaning of the new law; and
 - (b) it can be assumed that a corresponding old law provision exists for each new law provision.

Limits to subsections (1) and (2)

- (3) Subsections (1) and (2) do not apply in the case of—
- (a) a PIE rule that repeals an old law and replaces it with a new law;
 - (b) a PIE rule that is amended after the commencement of section 292(2) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009, with effect from the date on which the amendment comes into force.

Defined in this Act: PIE rules, portfolio investment entity

Section HZ 5: inserted, on 1 April 2010 (applying for the 2010–11 and later income years), by section 295(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

- (1) This section applies when, and to the extent to which,—
- (a) before the commencement of this Act,—
 - (i) an applicant has applied for a private ruling, a product ruling, or a status ruling, on an arrangement that is entered into, or that the applicant seriously contemplates will be entered into, before the commencement of this Act;
 - (ii) a public ruling is issued; and

- (b) the binding ruling is about a provision of the Income Tax Act 2007 relating to portfolio investment entities (the old law) that corresponds to and is replaced by the PIE rules; and
- (c) the PIE rules corresponding to the old law (the new law) come into force on 1 April 2010; and
- (d) the binding ruling—
 - (i) continues to exist at the commencement of this Act;
 - (ii) is made after the commencement of this Act in relation to an old law before 1 April 2010;
 - (iii) is made in relation to an old law provision of the Income Tax Act 2004 to which section ZA 4 (Saving of binding rulings) of the Income Tax Act 2007 applies, that continues to exist at the commencement of this Act; and
- (e) in the absence of this section, the commencement of this Act would mean that the binding ruling would cease to apply because of section 91G of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Ruling about new law

- (2) The binding ruling is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the ruling at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

No confirmation rulings

- (3) To the extent to which a binding ruling continued by subsection (2) exists and applies to an arrangement, or to a person and an arrangement, the Commissioner must not make a binding ruling on how—
 - (a) the new law applies to the arrangement or to the person and the arrangement; or
 - (b) this subsection applies to the arrangement or to the person and the arrangement.

Defined in this Act: apply, arrangement, binding ruling, Commissioner, PIE rules, portfolio investment entity

Section HZ 6: inserted, on 1 April 2010 (applying for the 2010–11 and later income years), by section 295(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

 - (a) before the commencement of the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009—

- (b) the binding ruling is about a provision of the Income Tax Act 2004 on the question of whether an amount is a settlement on a trust; and
- (c) the binding ruling—
 - (i) is made before or after the commencement of this Act and continues to exist at the commencement of the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009; and
 - (ii) is made in relation to a provision of the Income Tax Act 2004 to which section ZA 4 (Saving of binding rulings) of this Act would have applied but for the intended change listed in schedule 51 (Identified changes in legislation) for section HC 27(2) (Who is a settlor?); and
- (d) in the absence of this section, the commencement of the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 would mean that the binding ruling would cease to apply because of section 91G of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Ruling about new law

- (2) The binding ruling continues to exist despite the intended change referred to in subsection (1)(c)(ii) from the commencement of this Act to the date on which the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 receives the Royal assent.

No confirmation rulings

- (3) To the extent to which a binding ruling continued by subsection (2) exists and applies to an arrangement, or to a person and an arrangement, the Commissioner must not make a binding ruling in the period that starts on the date of the commencement of this Act and ends on the date on which the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 receives the Royal assent on how—

$$\text{retrospective amount} - \text{current amount.}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (a) retrospective amount is the amount of income, for the person's owner's interest in financial arrangements as debtor, that would result from the application of section HB 4 for income years before the 2017–18 income year, treating that section as amended, for the purposes of this definition, as provided by section 130 of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2016–17, Closely Held Companies, and Remedial Matters) Act 2017 for those income years:
- (b) current amount is the amount of income, for the person's owner's interest in financial arrangements as debtor from the application of section HB 4, for income years before the 2017–18 income year.

- (2) An originator makes an election referred to in section HR 9 (Debt funding special purpose vehicles are transparent if election made by originator) by returning income derived and expenditure incurred by the debt funding special purpose vehicle in their return of income for an income year starting on or after the date on which the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2018–19, Modernising Tax Administration, and Remedial Matters) Act 2019 receives the Royal assent.

- (2) For the purposes of calculating the income tax liability of the debt funding special purpose vehicle and its originators for the income year in which the election is made and later income years (the post-disposal periods),—
- (a) the relevant originator is treated for the post-disposal periods as if they had acquired and held the financial arrangement or excepted financial arrangement, not the debt funding special purpose vehicle;
 - (b) the relevant originator is treated for the post-disposal periods as if they had paid any consideration originally paid by the debt funding special purpose vehicle for or under the financial arrangement or excepted financial arrangement, and the debt funding special purpose vehicle is treated as not having paid that consideration;
 - (c) the relevant originator is treated for the post-disposal periods as if they had received any consideration originally received by the debt funding special purpose vehicle for or under the financial arrangement or excepted financial arrangement, and the debt funding special purpose vehicle is treated as not having received that consideration;

IB 1 Purpose

The purpose of this subpart and sections GB 3BA to GB 3BAC (which relate to arrangements involving tax losses) is—

- (a) to enable companies to carry forward tax loss components in loss balances despite not meeting the requirements for continuity of ownership of section IA 5 (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward: continuity of ownership), in order to reduce impediments to—
 - (i) innovation and economic growth:
 - (ii) corporate reorganisations:
 - (iii) changes in the direct or indirect ownership of companies:
 - (iv) companies accessing new sources of share capital:
 - (v) companies adapting their business activities in order to grow or be resilient; but
- (b) not to encourage tax avoidance arrangements involving the acquisition of ownership interests in companies.

Defined in this Act: business, company, loss balance, ownership interest, tax avoidance arrangement, tax loss component

Section IB 1: inserted (with effect on 1 April 2020), on 30 March 2021, by section 99(1) (and see section 99(2) for application) of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2020–21, Feasibility Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Act 2021 (2021 No 8).

IB 2 Meaning of ownership continuity breach

In this subpart, an ownership continuity breach, for a company, means a breach of the requirements for continuity of ownership of section IA 5 (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward: continuity of ownership) that, if met, enable a tax loss component of the company to be carried forward in a loss balance.

Defined in this Act: company, loss balance, ownership continuity breach, tax loss component, tax year

Section IB 2: inserted (with effect on 1 April 2020), on 30 March 2021, by section 99(1) (and see section 99(2) for application) of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2020–21, Feasibility Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Act 2021 (2021 No 8).

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when an ownership continuity breach occurs for a company.

Tax loss components for earlier income years carried forward

- (2) Despite the ownership continuity breach, a tax loss component arising in an earlier income year is carried forward to a tax year in a loss balance under section IA 3(4) (Using tax losses in tax year) if—
- (a) the earlier income year is the 2013–14 income year or a later income year; and
 - (b) the company does not cease to carry on business activities during the relevant period described in section IB 4 (the business continuity period); and
 - (c) no major change in the nature of the business activities carried on by the company occurs during the business continuity period, other than 1 or more major changes that are permitted under subsection (5); and
 - (d) subsection (3) does not apply to prevent the tax loss component being carried forward to the tax year.

Tax loss components for earlier income years not carried forward

- (3) The tax loss component is not carried forward to the tax year if—
- (a) before the beginning of the business continuity period,—
 - (i) the business activities carried on by the company have ceased; and
 - (ii) the business activities have not been revived;
 - (b) the earlier income year is the 2020–21 income year or a later income year and the company has had another ownership continuity breach—
 - (i) since the beginning of the earlier income year; and
 - (ii) in relation to which the requirements of subsection (2)(b) and (c) for the carrying forward to the tax year of the tax loss component are not met;
 - (c) the earlier income year is before the 2020–21 income year and an ownership continuity breach occurred for the company in the period—

- (i) beginning on the first day of the earlier income year; and
- (ii) ending on the last day of the 2019–20 income year.

Major change: factor that must be taken into account

- (4) For the purposes of subsection (2), without limiting the factors that may be taken into account in determining whether a major change in the nature of the business activities carried on by the company has occurred during the business continuity period, the extent to which the assets used in deriving the company's assessable income have remained the same or similar over the business continuity period must be taken into account.

Permitted major changes

- (5) A major change in the nature of the business activities carried on by the company during the business continuity period does not breach the requirement set out in subsection (2)(c) if the major change is—
- (a) made to increase the efficiency of a business activity carried on by the company:
 - (b) made to keep up to date with advances in technology:
 - (c) caused by an increase in the scale of a business activity carried on by the company, including as a result of the company entering a new market for a product or service that it produces or provides:
 - (d) caused by a change in the type of products or services the company produces or provides that involves the company starting to produce or provide a product or service using the same, or mainly the same, assets as, or that is otherwise closely connected with, a product or service that the company produced or provided immediately before the beginning of the business continuity period.

IB 4 Business continuity period*Period*

- (1) The period referred to in section IB 3(2)(b), for an ownership continuity breach and a tax loss component of a company, is the period beginning immediately before the ownership continuity breach occurs and ending on,—
- (a) for a company for which the amount calculated using the formula in subsection (2) is 0.50 or greater, the last day of the income year that corresponds to the tax year in which the company uses the tax loss component; or
 - (b) in any other case, the earlier of—
 - (i) the last day of the income year that corresponds to the tax year in which the company uses the tax loss component; and

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula,—
- (a) bad debt deductions is the total amount of deductions that the company has been allowed under section DB 31(3) (Bad debts) for income years between the 2013–14 income year and the income year corresponding to the tax year immediately preceding the ownership continuity breach, both income years inclusive, in which a tax loss component included in the company's tax loss for that tax year arose:

- (b) the Commissioner determines under section 113 of the Tax Administration Act 1994 that the actual total tax loss for the tax year is less than the sum of the amounts subtracted by the companies in the group, and notifies company A.

Reduced amounts

- (2) The relevant companies must reduce the amounts they subtracted either in the way company A allocates under subsection (3) or, if no allocation is made, proportionately under subsection (4).

Company A's allocation

- (3) Company A may choose how the amount by which the total must be reduced is allocated between or among the companies. But if company A allocates an amount to a company that is no longer part of the group at the time of the allocation, and the amount is more than a proportionate amount, the allocation is disregarded. Subsection (6) sets out the notice requirements for this subsection.

Proportionate amounts

- (4) If company A does not allocate the amounts by which the total must be reduced, the amounts subtracted by the group companies are reduced in the same proportion as that by which the total amount was reduced in determining the actual total tax loss.

Subvention payments

- (5) If the reduction results in a payment under section IC 5(2)(b) being treated as a dividend, the dividend is reduced to the extent to which the payment is repaid by company A within the notification period referred to in subsection (6).

Notifying Commissioner

- (6) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (5), company A must notify the Commissioner of the allocation within 6 months after the date on which the Commissioner notifies company A that the reduction is required. However, the Commissioner may agree to extend this notification period.

 - (ii) taken into account in calculating company A's tax loss for the 1993–94 tax year or a later tax year.

Limitation on loss grouping

- (2) The amount of company A's tax loss cannot be made available to another company in the group to use except to the extent to which the amount of the tax loss is more than the total amount of the deductions referred to in subsection (1)(a). To that extent, company A may choose to make the excess amount available to a group company to use under sections IA 3(2), IA 5, and IB 3 (which relate to using and carrying forward tax losses) if the requirements for grouping tax losses are met.

Determining decline in value of shares

- (3) For the purposes of this section, shares are treated as declining in value if,—

IE 2 Treatment of tax losses by amalgamating company

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies if an amalgamating company that meets the requirements of section IA 5(2) and (3) or IB 3(2) (which relate to the carrying forward of tax losses for companies) ends its existence on a resident's restricted amalgamation, and has a tax loss for a tax year that—
 - (a) has not, before the date of amalgamation, been used by the company; and
 - (b) could be made available and subtracted from the amalgamated company's net income for the part of the tax year that ends with the date of amalgamation.

Attributing losses to amalgamated company

- (2) If the amalgamated company meets the requirements of section IE 5, the tax loss is attributed to the amalgamated company. The amalgamated company may, after the date of amalgamation, subtract the amount of the tax loss from its net income for the tax year, or make it available to another company to subtract from its net income for the tax year.

Other amalgamating companies

- (3) In subsection (1)(b), the amalgamated company includes a company that has amalgamated with the amalgamated company before or during the tax year in which the amount is used. The tax year referred to in that subsection means the tax year of the relevant company.

New companies

- (4) Subsection (1)(b) does not apply if the amalgamated company is incorporated only on the amalgamation.

 - (c) for a tax loss component that is an attributed CFC net loss or a FIF net loss and is made available by the amalgamated company, the tax loss component is made available to a wholly-owned group of companies.

Treatment of part years

- (4) The pre-amalgamation part year and the post-amalgamation part year are treated as separate tax years for the purposes of applying this section.

Breaches of continuity and commonality

- (1) This subpart applies if either or both the following breaches occur:
- (a) when commonality of ownership required by section IC 5(1)(a) (Company B using company A's tax loss) is not met during a tax year (a commonality breach);
 - (b) when continuity of ownership required by section IA 5(1) (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward: continuity of ownership) is broken during a tax year, or when a new or existing company joins a group of companies during a tax year (a continuity breach).

Relationship with subparts IA, IC, and ID: part-year calculations

- (2) The general rules for the treatment of tax losses in subparts IA, IC, and ID (which relate to the general use and grouping of tax losses) apply, as modified or overridden by the provisions of this subpart, to—
- (a) a part-year tax loss as if it were a tax loss for a tax year:

- (b) part-year net income as if it were net income for a tax year:
- (c) the common span as if the period of time were a tax year.

Defined in this Act: common span, net income, tax loss, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IG 2(4)(e), (f), (5)(e), (f)

Section IP 1(1)(a): substituted (with effect on 1 April 2009), on 6 October 2009, by section 301(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

IP 2 Group companies' common span

Common span

- (1) In this subpart, the corresponding parts of company A's income year and company B's income year when the requirements for commonality of ownership under section IC 5(1)(a) (Company B using company A's tax loss) are met is called the common span.

Common span when balance dates differ

- (2) If the income years of company A and company B do not end on the same date, the common span is that part of company B's income year or income years in which the requirements for commonality are met. Section IC 10(2)(b) (When companies have different balance dates) may apply to extend the period.

Calculating group companies' tax losses

- (3) For the purposes of this subpart and the grouping of tax losses, the amount of a tax loss component is found after taking into account any amount of the tax loss component subtracted from the net income of any group company.

Defined in this Act: amount, common span, company, income year, net income, tax loss, tax loss component

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IG 2(2)(e), (4)(c), (d), (5)(b), (c)

Tax loss components carried forward

IP 3 Continuity breach: tax loss components of companies carried forward

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of section IA 4 (Using loss balances carried forward to tax year) if a breach occurs in the requirements for continuity of ownership of section IA 5 (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward: continuity of ownership) that enable a tax loss component included in a company's loss balance to be carried forward to or from a tax year.

Tax loss components for earlier income years

- (2) Despite the breach, a tax loss component arising in an earlier income year is carried forward to a tax year (year A) to the extent to which—

- (a) the requirements for continuity of ownership would be met if the continuity period included only part of the income year of the company that corresponds to year A; and
- (b) the company has net income for part of the corresponding income year; and
- (c) the company provides the Commissioner with adequate financial statements under section IP 6 calculating the amount of the company's net income for the relevant part of the corresponding income year.

Limit on tax loss components carried forward to year A

- (3) The total tax loss components carried forward under subsection (2) must be no more than the amount calculated under subsection (2)(b) and (c), although the amount may be increased if section IP 5 applies.

Tax loss components of year of breach

- (4) Despite the breach, a tax loss component is carried forward to the tax year (year B) from year A to the extent to which—
 - (a) the requirements for continuity of ownership would be met if the continuity period included only part of the income year that corresponds to year A; and
 - (b) the company provides the Commissioner with adequate financial statements under section IP 6 calculating the amount of the company's net loss for the part of year A.

Limit on tax loss components carried forward to year B

- (5) The amount of the tax loss component carried forward under subsection (4) must be the least of—
 - (a) the part-year net loss calculated under subsection (4)(b);
 - (b) if the company has net income for year A, zero;
 - (c) if the company has a net loss for year A, the company's net loss for year A.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, company, continuity period, corresponding income year, income year, loss balance, net income, net loss, tax loss component, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IF 1(2), (3)

Section IP 3(1): amended (with effect on 1 April 2020), on 30 March 2021, by section 110 of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2020–21, Feasibility Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Act 2021 (2021 No 8).

Modified requirements

- (2) The tax loss component is included in a tax loss that company A makes available under section IA 3(2) (Using tax losses in tax year) to company B only to the extent to which the following requirements, which modify those set out in section IC 5 (Company B using company A's tax loss), are met:
- (a) the tax loss component arises in the common span; and
 - (ab) the amount of the tax loss component is no more than the net income that company B derives in the common span; and
 - (b) continuity of ownership in company A under section IC 2(1) (Threshold levels for grouping tax losses in tax year) applies from the beginning to the end of the common span; and
 - (c) company A and company B provide the Commissioner with adequate financial statements under section IP 6; and
 - (d) company A notifies the Commissioner of the treatment of the tax loss under section IP 7.

Determining amounts

- (3) For the purposes of determining the amount of tax loss that company A and company B may use, sections IC 5 and IC 8 (which relate to the treatment of tax losses by companies) apply as if the common span were a corresponding income year.

Relationship with section IC 8

- (4) Despite subsection (2)(ab), section IC 8 overrides this section in limiting the amount that may be used when the net income derived in the common span is more than the net income of company B for the income year.

- (a) the amount of company A's loss balance carried forward to the tax year in which the breach occurred is not more than the amount of—
 - (i) company B's net income for the common span, if no company in the group other than company B has net income for the common span of more than zero; or
 - (ii) the total of the amounts of net income for the common span of companies in the group; and

IQ 4 Group companies using attributed CFC net losses

What this section does

- (1) This section supplements the general rules relating to the grouping of net losses when, for a tax year (the current tax year), a company (company A) that is part of a group of companies has an amount—
- (a) of attributed CFC net loss for the current tax year or carried forward from an earlier tax year, or FIF net loss for the current tax year or carried forward from an earlier tax year; and
 - (b) remaining after section IQ 2 is applied for the current tax year and before any amount is made available to another company under this section.

Modifications to general rules for grouping net losses

- (2) For determining whether company A may make available an amount of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss to another company (company B) in the group of companies, the general rules relating to the grouping of net losses are modified as follows:
- (a) the group of companies must be a wholly-owned group of companies; and

 - (d) section IA 3(2) (Using tax losses in tax year) and subpart IP (Meeting requirements for part-years) do not apply.

Ring-fencing cap rule modified

- (3) The amount of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss that company A may make available to company B in the tax year is limited by the following:
- (a) the total amount made available by company A to group companies must not exceed the amount referred to in subsection (1); and
 - (b) the resulting reduction in company B's net income in the tax year must not exceed the total amount that company B derives in the tax year of attributed CFC income from CFCs, or FIF income calculated under the attributable FIF income method from FIFs, resident in the country or territory (the jurisdiction) in which the loss arose, reduced by the total of the following:
 - (i) the total amount of the attributed CFC income or FIF income taken into account in calculating a deduction of company B under section DN 4 or DN 8 (which relate to ring-fencing caps on deductions);
 - (ii) the total amount of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss that company B derives in the tax year from CFCs or FIFs resident in the jurisdiction;
 - (iii) the total amount of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss, from CFCs or FIFs resident in the jurisdiction, that company B carries forward to the tax year and is available tax loss for company B;
 - (iv) the total amount of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss, from CFCs or FIFs resident in the jurisdiction, that is made available to company B for the tax year under this section by a company other than company A.

- (2) The first use of the amount must be by the company under subsection (3) or (4) in making the amount available to the consolidated group to subtract from its net income, so far as it extends, for the tax year.

CFC net losses

- (3) If the amount is an attributed CFC net loss, it may be used only to the extent to which it is no more than the attributed CFC income that the consolidated group derives in the tax year from a CFC resident in the country in which the loss arose.

FIF net losses

- (4) If the amount is a FIF net loss, it may be used only to the extent to which it is no more than the FIF income that the consolidated group derives in the tax year from a FIF resident in the country in which the loss arose.

Second use

- (5) If, after applying subsection (2), some of the amount remains, the company may—
- (a) subtract the remaining amount from its net income for the tax year; or
 - (b) make the remaining amount available to another consolidated group to subtract from its net income for the tax year under section IQ 4 or IQ 5; or
 - (c) make the remaining amount available under section IC 5 (Company B using company A's tax loss).

- (a) the offset years, which refers to the period of 2 years that is affected by the election and begins with either the 2018–19 or the 2019–20 income year;

 - (b) other wholly-owned tax is zero or, if person A is a company and is a member of a wholly-owned group of companies, is the amount of PAYE, ESCT, and FBT that the other members pay for the tax year and that is allocated to person A for the purposes of calculating person A's refundability cap for the tax year:
 - (c) other controller tax is zero or, if person A is a company, is the total amount of PAYE, ESCT, and FBT that companies that directly or indirectly control person A pay for the tax year and that is allocated to person A for the purposes of calculating their refundability cap for the tax year:

LJ 2 Tax credits for foreign income tax

Amount of credit

- (1) A person described in section LJ 1(2)(a) has a tax credit for a tax year for an amount of foreign income tax paid on a segment of foreign-sourced income, determined as if the segment were the net income of the person for the tax year. The amount of the New Zealand tax payable is calculated under section LJ 5.

Limitation on amount of credit

- (2) The amount of the person's credit in subsection (1) must not be more than the amount of New Zealand tax payable by the person in relation to the segment calculated under section LJ 5(2), modified as necessary under section LJ 5(4).

Amount adjusted

- (3) The amount of the person's credit in subsection (1) may be reduced or increased if either section LJ 6 or LJ 7 applies.

When person both resident in New Zealand and another country

- (4) A person described in section LJ 1(2)(a) who has, because they are a citizen or resident of, or are domiciled in, a foreign country, paid foreign income tax on their assessable income, has a credit under subsection (1). However, the amount of the credit is limited to the amount of foreign income tax that would have been paid in the foreign country if the person were treated as not a citizen or resident of, or domiciled in, that foreign country.

Multi-rate PIEs and their investors

- (5) For a multi-rate PIE and an investor in a multi-rate PIE, the amount of a tax credit is limited to the extent allowed under subpart HM (Portfolio investment entities).

When subsection (7) applies

Tax credit: attributing interest in FIF

- (7) The person has a tax credit under this subpart for foreign income tax paid on or withheld in relation to the amount. The calculation of the maximum amount of the tax credit is made under section LJ 5(2), modified so that the item segment in the formula is the amount of FIF income from the attributing interest that the person derives in the period referred to in section EX 59(2).

When subsections (9) and (10) apply

- (8) Subsections (9) and (10) apply when a person (the associated entity) resident in New Zealand derives an amount (the attributed amount) that—
- (a) is assessable income of the associated entity that is sourced from outside New Zealand; and
 - (b) is attributed under sections GB 27 to GB 29 (which relate to the attribution rule for income from personal services) in an income year to another person (the working person) who is resident in New Zealand when the associated entity derives the attributed amount.

Tax credit: attributed income from personal services

- (9) Despite section LJ 1(2)(a), the working person has a tax credit under this subpart for foreign income tax paid on the attributed amount by the associated entity or withheld in relation to the attributed amount. The calculation of the maximum amount of the tax credit is made under section LJ 5(2), modified so that the item segment in the formula is the attributed amount for the income year.

No tax credit for associated entity

- (10) The associated entity does not have a tax credit under this subpart for foreign income tax paid on or withheld in relation to the attributed amount.

LJ 5 Calculation of New Zealand tax

What this section does

- (1) This section provides the rules that a person must use to calculate the amount of New Zealand tax for an income year in relation to each segment of foreign-sourced income of the person that is allocated to the income year.

Calculation for single segment

- (2) If the person has a notional income tax liability of more than zero, the amount of New Zealand tax for the income year relating to the allocated segment is calculated using the following formula, the result of which can not be less than zero:

$$((\text{segment} - \text{person's deductions}) \div \text{person's net income}) \times \text{notional liability}.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula in subsection (2),—
 - (a) segment is the amount of the segment of foreign-sourced income for the income year;
 - (b) person's deductions is the amount of the person's deduction for the tax year corresponding to the income year that is attributable to the segment of foreign-sourced income;
 - (c) person's net income is the person's net income for the tax year corresponding to the income year under section BC 4(1) to (3) (Net income and net loss);

Modification of eligible research and development expenditure

- (2) Despite subsection (1), for an amount that is otherwise eligible research and development expenditure,—

 - (b) an amount that is incurred on a research and development activity performed outside New Zealand, or is a payment of salary or wages to a non-resident, or is a payment for a service performed by a non-resident is only eligible research and development expenditure to the extent to which section LY 7 provides.

Calculation of eligible research and development expenditure: contracted research and development expenditure

- (2) For the purposes of section LY 5(2)(a), eligible research and development expenditure includes an amount of contracted research and development expenditure, described in subsection (1), to the extent of the amount calculated using the formula—

- (3) In the formula,—
- (a) contract amount means the amount of consideration paid or payable by the person to a contractor to perform research and development activities:
- (b) ineligible expenditure means the contractor's expenditure or loss in relation to performing the research and development activity, to the extent to which the expenditure or loss is not eligible research and development expenditure under section LY 5(1), treating the contractor as the relevant person for the purposes of that section.

- (4) If an amount of contracted research and development expenditure, described in subsection (1), is also foreign research and development expenditure, described in section LY 7(1), then section LY 7 overrides this section in relation to that amount.

Defined in this Act: amount, eligible research and development expenditure, loss, research and development activity, research and development contractor

Section LY 6: inserted, on 1 April 2019, by section 10 (and see section 3 for application) of the Taxation (Research and Development Tax Credits) Act 2019 (2019 No 15).

- (b) is a payment of salary or wages to a non-resident person, and the non-resident performs the relevant activity in New Zealand;
- (c) is a payment for a service performed by a non-resident person, and the non-resident performs the relevant activity in New Zealand.

Calculation of eligible research and development expenditure: foreign research and development expenditure

- (2) For the purposes of section LY 5(2)(b), eligible research and development expenditure includes an amount of foreign research and development expenditure, described in subsection (1), to the extent the amount is less than or equal to the lesser of—
 - (a) the amount given by the formula in subsection (3);
 - (b) the amount given by the formula in subsection (5).

Actual overseas expenditure amount

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2)(a), the amount is calculated using the formula—

Definition of items in formula

- (4) In the formula in subsection (3),—
 - (a) contract amount means the amount of foreign research and development expenditure, described in subsection (1)(a) and (c), for another person (a foreign contractor) to perform research and development activities on behalf of the person;
 - (b) ineligible expenditure means the foreign contractor's expenditure or loss in relation to performing the research and development activities, to the extent to which the expenditure or loss is not eligible research and development expenditure under section LY 5(1), treating the foreign contractor as the relevant person for the purposes of that section;
 - (c) foreign in-house amount means the amount of foreign research and development expenditure, described in subsection (1), under section LY 5(1) but ignoring amounts for a foreign contractor to perform research and development activities for the person.

$$0.1 \times \text{total NZ R \& D expenditure} \div 0.9.$$

Definition of item in formula

- (6) In the formula in subsection (5), total NZ R & D expenditure means the amount of eligible research and development expenditure under section LY 5, but excluding any amount in relation to foreign research and development expenditure, described in subsection (1).

Defined in this Act: amount, core research and development activity, eligible research and development expenditure, loss, New Zealand, non-resident, research and development activity

Carry forward: exception

- (2) Despite subsection (1), if the person is a company, the remaining tax credit is extinguished and must not be carried forward and credited, unless the continuity rules in subsection (3) are met. This subsection is subject to subsections (4B) to (6).

Carry forward: another exception

- (2B) Despite subsection (1), if a person is not a levy body researcher and the person derives exempt income for the tax year under section CW 38, CW 39, CW 40, CW 41, CW 42, or CW 55BA (which relate to exempt income), the remaining tax credit is extinguished and must not be carried forward and credited.

Continuity rules

- (3) For a company, the remaining tax credit is carried forward and credited if a group of persons exists that has, for the continuity period,—
 - (a) minimum voting interests in the company that total 49% or more; and minimum market value interest means the lowest market value interest that a person has in the company for the continuity period:

minimum voting interest means the lowest voting interest that a person has in the company for the continuity period.

Breach of continuity

- (4B) If a company's remaining tax credit cannot be carried forward and credited because the requirements of subsection (3) are not met, the company may apply subsection (4C), or subsections (5) and (6), to determine whether some or all of its remaining tax credit is carried forward and credited.

Carry forward of credits despite continuity breach

- (4C) Despite a breach of continuity under subsection (3), a company may carry forward a remaining research and development tax credit arising in a tax year to a later tax year and credit it under section LY 1(3)(b) for that later tax year, if the remaining tax credit could be carried forward to that later tax year under subpart IB (Carrying forward companies' loss balances: continuity of business activities), treating the remaining tax credit as a tax loss component arising on the last day of the income year corresponding to the tax year in which the credit first arose.

Credits for earlier income years

- (5) Despite a breach of continuity under subsection (3), a person's remaining research and development tax credit for an earlier tax year may be carried forward to a tax year (year A) and credited under section LY 1(3)(b) to the extent to which—
- (a) the requirements for continuity of ownership would be met if the continuity period included only part of the income year of the company that corresponds to year A; and
 - (b) the company provides the Commissioner with adequate financial statements relating to the continuity period, calculating the amount of the person's income tax liability for the relevant part of the corresponding income year.

Credits for year of breach

- (6) Despite a breach of continuity under subsection (3), a person's remaining research and development tax credit may be carried forward to the tax year (year B) from year A and credited under section LY 1(3)(b) to the extent to which—
- (a) the requirements for continuity of ownership would be met if the continuity period included only part of the income year of the company that corresponds to year A; and
 - (b) the company provides the Commissioner with adequate financial statements relating to the continuity period, calculating the amount of the person's research and development tax credit for the relevant part of the corresponding income year.

daily parental tax credit amount × extra entitlement days.

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula in subsection (2),—
- (a) daily parental tax credit amount is the amount of parental tax credit that the person would be entitled to for an entitlement period consisting of—
 - (i) the last day of the last entitlement period in the part of the parental entitlement period in the tax year of the birth, if there is an entitlement period in that part of the parental entitlement period; or
 - (ii) the first day of the first entitlement period in the part of the parental entitlement period in the tax year after the tax year of the birth, if subparagraph (i) does not apply;

Heading: substituted, on 1 April 2008, by section 476(1) of the Taxation (Business Taxation and Remedial Matters) Act 2007 (2007 No 109).

MD 13 Calculation of family credit abatement

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of section MD 1 to determine the amount of a person's family credit abatement for an entitlement period.

Formula

- (2) The formula is—

$$\text{full-year abatement} \times \text{days} \div 365.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula,—
 - (a) full-year abatement is,—
 - (i) if the person has no spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner during the entitlement period, and the person's family scheme income for the relationship period containing the entitlement period is more than $42,700, 25 cents for each complete dollar of the excess; or
 - (ii) if the person has a spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner during the entitlement period, and the person's family scheme income, the family scheme income of their spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner, or the sum of those incomes for the relationship period containing the entitlement period is more than $42,700, 25 cents for each complete dollar of the excess:
 - (b) days is the number of days in the entitlement period excluding the days of any calendar months in which the person receives protected family tax credit as described in section MD 14.

When 70-day period crosses 2 tax years and parental tax credit paid in instalments

- (4) If a person who qualifies under section MC 2 (Who qualifies for entitlements under family scheme?) receives instalments of the parental tax credit in a 70-day period that crosses 2 tax years, the formula is applied so that—
- (a) instalments of the parental tax credit received in the first tax year are abated against the person's family scheme income, the family scheme income of their spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner, or the sum of those incomes for that tax year; and
 - (b) instalments of the parental tax credit received in the second tax year are abated against the person's family scheme income, the family scheme income of their spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner, or the sum of those incomes for that tax year.

When 70-day period crosses 2 tax years and parental tax credit paid in lump sum

- (4B) If a person who qualifies under section MC 2 has a 70-day parental entitlement period that crosses 2 tax years and the person receives a lump sum payment of the parental tax credit for the tax year of the birth, then—
- (a) an additional amount of parental tax credit abatement for the tax year of the birth is calculated under section MD 16, based on the number of days that are—
 - (i) in the parental entitlement period; and
 - (ii) in an entitlement period in the tax year following the tax year of the birth; and
 - (b) the formula in subsection (2) should not be used to calculate an amount of parental tax credit abatement for the days described in paragraph (a), except for the purposes of determining the amount of parental tax credit abatement for the single day described in section MD 16(3)(a)(ii).

Order in Council increasing amount

- (5) In subsection (3)(a), the amounts appearing as the amount of the threshold may be increased as prescribed by the Governor-General by Order in Council under section MF 7 (Orders in Council).

Imputation additional tax

OB 71 Imputation additional tax on leaving group of companies

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies in a tax year when—
- (a) a company (company A) stops being part of a group of companies (the former group), because of a change in the ultimate owner of the company, and becomes part of a wholly-owned group of companies (the new group); and

- (b) if the former group is a wholly-owned group of companies, the loss balance carried forward from the previous tax year for companies in the former group is more than $1,000,000; and
- (c) if the former group is not a wholly-owned group of companies, company A has transferred imputation credits under section OB 83 to a company in the former group.

Sources of liability

- (1B) Company A is liable for imputation additional tax under—
- (a) subsection (2), if the company has a debit balance in the imputation credit account when the ultimate owner of the company changes;
 - (b) subsection (4), if the company has an amount of excess entitlement under subsection (5) when the ultimate owner of the company changes.

Liability arising from debit balance

- (2) At the time company A stops being part of the former group, it may choose to reduce or eliminate the debit balance by paying imputation additional tax of an amount no greater than the debit balance but, in dealing with the liability, it may transfer some or all of the debit balance under subsection (3) or choose to use its excess entitlement under subsection (4), or a combination of both.

Debit balance

- (3) Company A may choose to transfer under section OB 44 some or all of a debit balance in the company's imputation credit account to another company (company B) in the former group. An imputation additional tax liability remains for the amount of the debit balance that is not transferred.

Liability arising from excess entitlement

- (4) Company A is liable for an amount of imputation additional tax equal to the amount of the excess entitlement described in subsection (5) reduced, to no less than zero, by the amount of any payment that company A—
- (a) made as provisional tax or income tax; and
 - (b) chooses to treat as having been paid by company B.

Amount of excess entitlement

- (5) Company A's excess entitlement at the time it stops being part of the former group is 1 of the following amounts:
- (a) zero, if the credit balance of its imputation credit account at the time is equal to or more than—
 - (i) the amount in the tax pooling account provided by or for the benefit of company A that is more than its liability to pay income tax or provisional tax at the time; or
 - (ii) the entitlement company A would have to a refund under sections RM 2, RM 4, and RM 5 (which relate to refunds of excess tax) as if sections RM 13 to RM 17 (which relate to limits on refunds) did not apply; or

- (b) the total of the amounts referred to in paragraph (a)(i) and (ii) if no credit balance exists at the time; or
- (c) the excess of the total of the amounts referred to in paragraph (a)(i) and (ii) over the credit balance, if paragraph (b) does not apply.

Due date

- (6) If company A chooses to pay imputation additional tax under subsections (2) and (4), it must pay the amount to the Commissioner no later than the 20th day of the month following the month in which company A stops being part of the former group.

Joint liability

- (7) Company A and all companies in the former group are jointly liable for a payment of imputation additional tax under subsection (6). A payment of imputation additional tax does not satisfy any other liability of company A or the former group.

Payment by excess tax

- (8) Company A, or another company in the former group, may choose to apply an excess tax payment to satisfy company A's liability.

Form of election

- (9) An election under this section must follow the form of an election under section OB 13(5). However, if subsection (3) or (4) apply to transfer a debit or treat an amount of tax as having been paid, company A must also provide a notice of agreement from company B in relation to the amount of excess tax payment.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, company, excess tax payment, group of companies, imputation additional tax, imputation credit, imputation credit account, income tax, income tax liability, loss balance, notice, pay, provisional tax, tax loss, tax pooling account, tax year, ultimate owner, wholly-owned group of companies
