80 Decision-making by customary marine title hapū under this subpart

To avoid doubt, in making decisions under this subpart, a customary marine title hapū is not limited by, or required to comply with, decision-making processes in the Resource Management Act 1991 that apply to a consent authority.

81 Costs

If the Council or EPA refers a resource consent application to a customary marine title hapū under section 76, the Council or EPA may require the applicant to pay the Council's or EPA's reasonable costs in complying with this subpart in relation to the application.

- (1) This section applies to a resource consent application for a proposed activity in a customary marine title area that is referred to a customary marine title hapū for any purpose under this subpart.
- (2) The statutory time frames in the Resource Management Act 1991 that apply to the resource consent application are suspended until the hapū has exercised its rights under this subpart, including any rights of appeal or rehearing under that Act in relation to rights under this subpart.

83 Offences

- (1) This section applies to a proposed activity in a customary marine title area, other than an accommodated matter, that requires the permission of the customary marine title hapū for the purposes of section 74(1)(a).
- (2) It is an offence to commence the activity in the area unless the hapū has given permission for the purposes of section 74(1)(a).
- (3) A person who commits an offence against subsection (2) is liable on conviction,—
 - (a) in the case of a natural person, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 2 years or a fine not exceeding $300,000;
 - (b) in the case of a person other than a natural person, to a fine not exceeding $600,000.
- (4) A person convicted of an offence under this section is also liable for the full value of—
 - (a) any revenue or profits earned by, or accruing to, the offender as a result of the offence; or
 - (b) any revenue or profits lost by the customary marine title hapū as a result of the offence; or
 - (c) any savings in costs made by, or accruing to, the offender as a result of the offence.

- (5) If a person is convicted of an offence under this section and a fine is imposed, the court must—
- (a) deduct 10% from the total sum of the fine imposed and the full amount payable under subsection (4), to be credited to a Crown Bank Account nominated by the Minister of Finance for the purposes of this section; and
 - (b) order that the balance of the total sum described in paragraph (a) be paid—
 - (i) in full to the customary marine title hapū that brought the prosecution; or
 - (ii) if another person brought the prosecution, to that person and the customary marine title hapū in any proportion that the court directs.
- (6) Proceedings under this section must be heard—

See section 49(2)(b)(i), (3)(h)(i), (3)(i), and (3)(j) for provisions that empower the making of regulations that—

- (b) provide for fisheries management committees to propose bylaws for any customary marine title area that is covered by a fisheries management plan and for the Minister of Fisheries to consider and make the bylaws (after the Minister satisfies the relevant requirements in the deed of agreement); and
- (c) provide for record-keeping, document management, and reporting requirements for the bylaws.

Subpart 3—Environmental covenant—extended mechanism

85 Recognition of covenant in key public documents

- (1) To the extent that a key public document covers or directly affects a customary marine title area, Gisborne District Council must ensure that the document recognises and provides for the matters in the environmental covenant that relate to resource management issues.

- (2) See section 20 if the document covers or directly affects an area of ngā rohe moana that is not a customary marine title area.

86 Effect of covenant on resource consent applications until review of key public documents completed

- (1) This section applies if—

 - (b) Gisborne District Council has not completed its review under section 21 of the key public documents that are relevant to the consideration.
- (2) The consent authority must recognise and provide for the matters in the environmental covenant that relate to resource management issues when considering the application.
- (3) See section 24 if the activity is within, adjacent to, or directly affecting an area of ngā rohe moana that is not a customary marine title area.

Subpart 4—Conservation processes—extended mechanism

87 Conservation processes may not proceed without permission of relevant hapū

If an application or a proposal for a conservation process is made in respect of a customary marine title area, the Minister of Conservation or the Director-General must not consider the application or proposal without the written permission of the customary marine title hapū.

88 Referral to customary marine title hapū

- (1) The Minister of Conservation or the Director-General must refer an application or a proposal for a conservation process to the customary marine title hapū for the customary marine title area concerned, unless—
- (a) the person making the application or proposal has already sought permission from the hapū for the Minister of Conservation or the Director-General to consider the application or proposal; and
 - (b) the hapū has given or declined that permission.
- (2) In referring the application or proposal, the Minister or Director-General must,—
- (a) in the case of a marine reserve application, also refer details of the signs, boundary markers, and management activities that may be placed or undertaken in the proposed marine reserve;
 - (b) in the case of a proposal for a marine mammal sanctuary, also refer details of the management activities that may be undertaken in the proposed marine mammal sanctuary;

- (c) in the case of a proposal to establish or extend a conservation protected area, an application for a concession, or an application for a permit authorising a commercial operation, also refer all the relevant details that the Minister or Director-General has available.

- (1) This section applies if the customary marine title hapū has given its permission for an application or a proposal under section 89.
- (2) The Minister of Conservation or the Director-General must not grant the application or approve the proposal on terms different from those in the application or proposal.

 - (a) the only change is to reduce the customary marine title area that is to be a marine reserve; and
 - (b) the Director-General has notified the customary marine title hapū of the change.

91 Costs

Subpart 5—Taonga tūturu ownership

92 Newly found taonga tūturu

- (1) Any taonga tūturu found in an area after it has become a customary marine title area is prima facie the property of the customary marine title hapū.
- (2) Accordingly, section 11(1) of the Protected Objects Act 1975 does not apply to the taonga tūturu.

- (3) Any person who finds a taonga tūturu in a customary marine title area has a duty to notify the finding to the chief executive or the nearest public museum within 28 days, in accordance with section 11(3) of the Protected Objects Act 1975.
- (4) The obligations of the chief executive under section 11(4) of the Protected Objects Act 1975 apply, but with the following modifications:

 - (b) the public notice given by the chief executive must provide for a period of 6 months from the date of the notice for any claims of ownership to the taonga tūturu to be lodged.
- (5) To avoid doubt, the discretion conferred on the chief executive or other person by section 11(2) of the Protected Objects Act 1975 to apply to the Māori Land Court also applies under this section.
- (6) If no competing claims have been lodged with the chief executive within 6 months after the date of the notice given under subsection (4)(b), the customary marine title hapū becomes the owner of the taonga tūturu.
- (7) If competing claims are lodged in respect of the taonga tūturu within the specified time,—
 - (a) the customary marine title hapū must be treated as having also lodged a claim for the ownership of the taonga tūturu; and

- (3) The reservation of minerals in favour of the Crown continued by section 16(2) of the Marine and Coastal Area (Takutai Moana) Act 2011 ceases.
- (4) This section does not limit or have any effect on section 11(1A) of the Crown Minerals Act 1991 (which excludes the reservation of minerals in favour of the Crown from applying to pounamu to which section 3 of the Ngai Tahu (Pounamu Vesting) Act 1997 applies).

94 Status of existing privileges within common marine and coastal area

- (1) Despite section 93(2) and (3), the following privileges, rights, obligations, functions, and powers (including those preserved by the transitional provisions in Part 2 of the Crown Minerals Act 1991) continue as if section 93 had not been enacted:
 - (a) privileges in existence immediately before the area became a customary marine title area; and
 - (b) rights that can be exercised under the Crown Minerals Act 1991 by the holders of those privileges or any other person; and
 - (c) subsequent rights and privileges granted to those holders or any other person following the exercise of the rights referred to in paragraph (b) (including those provided for by section 32 of the Crown Minerals Act 1991); and

- (2) A customary marine title hapū is entitled to receive the following royalties from the Crown:
 - (a) any royalties paid to the Crown under the Crown Minerals Act 1991 in respect of minerals (other than petroleum, gold, silver, and uranium existing in their natural condition) that are subject to any privilege, right, or obligation referred to in subsection (1)(a) to (d) that applies to its customary marine title area; and
 - (b) any royalties for sand and shingle taken from the customary marine title area imposed by regulations made under the Resource Management Act 1991.
- (3) The royalties—
 - (a) are payable from the date on which the area becomes a customary marine title area; but
 - (b) must be calculated based on the minerals to which the royalties relate that are taken from the area from the date on which the application is made for recognition of the customary marine title area under section 111 or 113.
- (4) If any amount of royalties due to the customary marine title hapū is unknown, the hapū and the Crown must calculate and agree to the amount by taking into account factors that include the following:
 - (a) the relative sizes of the area to which the relevant privilege, right, or obligation referred to in subsection (1)(a) to (d) applies and the area of the customary marine title area to which the relevant privilege, right, or obligation applies:
