

CONSTITUTION OF THE PUNTLAND STATE OF SOMALIA

December 2009
English Translation November 2011

Puntland State was created in 1998 through a consultative agreement among the different regions that constitute Puntland.

The creation of Puntland State emerged from Somalia's failure to re-establish an inclusive national government for eight years. The people of Puntland realized they could not continue without a government. It was then decided in the constitutional conference of 1998 that Puntland would become a state that would be part of a federal Somalia.

A charter was approved in that same 1998 conference and later replaced with a provisional constitution that was approved by members of the House of Representatives in 2001. A referendum on the constitution was to have taken place in 2004, although this was not accomplished.

Since it was not possible to hold a referendum on the constitution it was decided that the constitution would continue in force while undergoing review.

The constitutional review process began in May 2007 and continued until June 2009. In the review process, meaningful opinions were contributed from different sectors of Puntland society, such as Somali lawyers and foreign lawyers.

Therefore, the new constitution was drafted to become the law of the people of Puntland and was based on the Islamic shari'a and, at the same time, the constitution guides the system of governance, and thus brings collaboration and order among the different government institutions of the state.

It is important to mention that this constitution will have an impact on the life of every Puntlander, because no nation may exist without laws, and therefore this constitution brings order among citizens and moreover entrenches their human rights and responsibilities so that they may attain social and economic development.

In summary, this constitution provides guidance on the laws administering the different roles of the public institutions, and therefore works in the best interests of the citizens of Puntland. Since this constitution sets out the general structure of the Puntland government, it will also impact on other people in the Federal Republic of Somalia.

Puntland decided to be part of a government based on a federal system as a result of the needs of the citizens of Somalia.

For the reasons above, every Puntland citizen is expected to read this constitution, so that he or she may know its importance for the people, and therefore make an informed decision when voting in the referendum.
